

Egypt, Israel Claim Gains In Mideast War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel said Syrian forces were "in full retreat" from the Golan Heights toward Damascus today, but Syria said its troops had repulsed the Israelis and Egypt claimed it totally controlled the east bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli state radio said Israeli troops and armor pursued the retreating Syrians. The broadcast said Syrian soldiers were running away on foot and that Syrian columns began withdrawing toward Damascus, less than 40 miles from the battle lines.

Egypt, meanwhile, said its tanks punched deeper into the Sinai under cover from warplanes knocking out vital Israeli defenses. Israel said its forces were on the offensive and had destroyed all bridges across the Suez Canal, trapping Egyptian troops in the desert without supplies.

In Washington, President Nixon said the United States seeks support in the U.N. Security Council for a position "we hope and believe will be effective," but gave no indication as to the nature of the Mideast proposal the United States will present to the council.

The Israeli state radio's authoritative commentator, Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, said Israeli tanks were slashing toward the canal with fresh crews and said Israel was near a "dramatic turning point" in the three-day-old war.

But an Egyptian communique broadcast by Cairo radio said the Israeli attempt to destroy cross-canal pontoon assault bridges had failed and Egyptian jets were blasting Israeli airfields in support of advancing Egyptian armor.

A communique from the Syrian military command also reported heavy fighting on the other major front, the Golan Heights near Israel's northeastern border with Syria. The Damascus broadcast claimed Syrian jets backing ground troops in the heights knocked down 32 more Israeli fighters.

That brought the kill count claimed by Syria and Egypt to more than a fourth of Israel's 480-plane air force. The Tel Aviv command has kept silent but declared it had command of the skies on both fronts.

Israel said that it fought a holding action Saturday and Sunday while it brought up its reserves, but this morning its warplanes hit five Syrian air bases and Egyptian targets.

A communique reported heavy losses and damage inflicted on the Syrians. The Israeli command said the Egyptians sent "a large number" of planes on bombing missions deep in the Sinai desert, and five of them were brought down in dogfights or by ground fire.

The Israeli radio said furious air battles raged over both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and claimed they were the first such aerial actions of the new war.

As the new Middle East war went into its third day, Arab guerrillas hit Israeli settlements in North Galilee with Katyusha rockets and mortars, but no casualties were reported. The Israeli radio said most of the attacks came from southern Lebanon.

An effort to get a cease-fire appeal from the U.N. Security Council collapsed Sunday because the Russians, Chinese and other allies of the Arabs insisted that it contain a demand for Israel to give up the territory it seized in the 1967 war. A council meeting requested by the United States was expected this afternoon, but Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Israel would not accept a cease-fire until the Arab forces were driven back to the lines they crossed Saturday.

An Israeli communique Sunday night said the Egyptians have suffered heavy losses in armored duels and from Israeli air strikes. It said that Israel has consolidated its forces on the Egyptian front.

The communique said that air strikes have damaged or destroyed nine of the 11 pontoon bridges the Egyptians threw across the canal.

Egypt, however, said that it continued to move men across the bridges. Earlier Sunday it said it had solidified its foothold along the eastern bank of the 103-mile canal.

A broadcast by the Israeli state radio said reserve units were being brought into the fighting against the Egyptians. Foreign newsmen have been prevented from reaching the fighting areas, but Israeli radio broadcasts said Egypt had sent more than 400 tanks across the canal during the first 24 hours of fighting.

Israel said it drove the Syrians back all along the Golan Heights except at Khushniye, which is about three miles inside the old cease-fire line.

U.S. Mounts Mideast Peace Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — After exchanging personal messages with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nixon said today the United States will propose action he hopes and believes "will be effective in stopping the fighting" in the Middle East.

After Nixon talked briefly with newsmen in his Oval Office, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler disclosed that Nixon and Brezhnev exchanged private messages Sunday that were channeled through the Soviet embassy here and the American embassy in Moscow. Ziegler said the Washington-Moscow "hotline" was not used.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the United States was seeking broad international support for a move in the United Nations Security Council that they hope could lead to an end to the conflict.

Ziegler, conducting his first press briefing in weeks, said Kissinger has been in close touch with the foreign ministers of Egypt and Israel. Ziegler expressed the view that these contacts "perhaps give us a better opportunity" to promote an end to the fighting than was possible during the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Ziegler said Kissinger has been in close touch with "all parties who have an interest in the area." He said the meetings included an unannounced meeting Saturday night with Huang Chen, head of Communist China's liaison office in Washington.

The press secretary said the U.S. objective is an end to the fighting followed by a search for an over-all Middle East settlement.

Because of the new Arab-Israeli conflict, Ziegler said Nixon is canceling plans to fly to Carthage, Tenn., Saturday to dedicate a dam named for former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Asked if the United States felt the Soviet Union was prepared to urge restraint by its Arab allies as a result of the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges, Ziegler said, "I don't think now is the time to characterize the attitude" of any other nation.

Ziegler said he could not get into details of Nixon's exchange with Brezhnev.

"It's a serious situation ... and we are doing everything we can on the diplomatic side," Ziegler said.

When a reporter asked if Nixon's cancellation of the planned trip to Tennessee reflected presidential pessimism over prospects for an early end to the fighting, Ziegler said he would not predict developments in the United Nations or on the battlefronts.

Nixon transmitted a message to Brezhnev Sunday before leaving Key Biscayne, Fla., Ziegler said, and Brezhnev's response was received after the President returned to the White House late Sunday night. Ziegler indicated only two messages — one in each direction — were involved.

He said Nixon had not been in personal contact with any other world leader except Brezhnev.

Earlier in the day, Nixon had told newsmen that he wants to avoid "any grandstand play" in the Middle East situation.

Nixon interrupted a morning meeting in his Oval Office with Kissinger to chat briefly with newsmen about the Middle East situation.

Cairo And Damascus Residents Mostly Calm Despite Battles

CAIRO (AP) — The usual Sunday crowds strolled the streets of Cairo, seemingly unconcerned that Israeli jets along the Suez Canal were only seven minutes away.

But by 9:30 p.m. the Egyptian capital was almost blacked out, and few people were on the streets. There were no air raids, but all the papers carried detailed instructions of what to do in case of one.

Thousands of Syrians fled into air raid shelters in Damascus, the other Arab war capital, following Israeli air strikes on military airfields near the city, sources reached by telephone reported.

Israeli and Syrian jets continuously streaked over the capital.

Many persons spent more than an hour in the shelters. There were no reported strikes in the ancient city itself.

The sources reported there were no air raid sirens but said people fled to the shelters after hearing the thuds of explosions around the city.

The Egyptian government issued communiques on the progress of the fighting Saturday and early Sunday. But they dwindled as the fighting continued, and by 9:30 p.m. Sunday there had been no new report for nearly seven hours. There was speculation that things weren't going as well as the government would like.

The television network showed a two-minute film of Egyptian tanks and troops crossing a pontoon bridge over the Suez Canal, waving their guns

CHS Band Places 2nd At Bonanza Of Bands

The Circleville High School Bandmen, Majorettes, Tigerettes and Colorguard received the second place trophy at the 11th annual Zanesville Bonanza of Bands. The Bonanza of Bands took place all day Saturday although the Tiger Band did not take the field until 10 p.m.

Tiger Band Director, Gary J. Dean, said he had tried unsuccessfully for three years to get Circleville into the competition at Zanesville. Due to the many bands vying for a chance, this was the first year they have attended.

Circleville was the last of 21 bands to perform. They were in the open class along with bands from around the state including Trotwood-Madison, Springfield North, Pickerington, Newark Morgan and Lexington.

Allotted playing time for bands in this class was a minimum of six minutes and maximum of eight minutes. The actual performance time for the Tiger Band was six minutes 58 seconds.

Judging the performance was done by five judges in three categories. Two judges handled the marching and maneuvering, two the general effect and the music and one the timing. Prior to their playing, the band was judged by an inspection team of the U.S. Air Force. Due to slight imperfection the band was penalized .0045.

Comments made by the five judges were "Very effective routine", "A good solid sounding band", "A very fine playing band" and "A very rich sounding band".

The band's major weakness was determined as having absences in the formation due to illness. The band was not penalized for those absences but it was mentioned by all the judges as having a bearing on the overall general effect.

Major strong points were pointed out as being a good strong musical performance and a good contrast in dynamics.

In an all class judging, the Tiger band ranked third highest in total points.

Dean said "all prejudices aside, the band did a fine job."

Japan Trade For Ohio?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An official of the state department of Economic and Community Development says Japanese industries could open sales and distribution facilities in Ohio within six months.

William Harple commented Saturday following the 16-day Ohio Trade Mission to Japan and Nationalist China.

"Timing of the trip was perfect. The devaluation of the dollar and the rate of Japanese inflation are of great concern. Japanese labor costs are getting very high, and we're getting competitive," he said.

Harple said the Japanese textile industry was particularly interested in southern Ohio which he said has "an availability of semi-skilled labor."

He said state officials received no firm commitments, but found out that small and medium sized firms were interested in locating in the U.S. as well as the giant auto makers and electronics firms.

Deeply Divided U.N. To Debate Outbreak Of War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A deeply divided United Nations faced the new Middle East conflict on two fronts today. Much debate but no concrete action is expected in both the Security Council and the General Assembly.

President Nixon called Sunday night for a Security Council meeting after two days of intensive U.S. diplomatic consultations. The meeting was expected to start at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

There was no indication what specific action the United States would seek.

British efforts for a cease-fire appeal by the council president collapsed under Soviet, Chinese and nonaligned opposition.

The appeal would have been made by the president, Sir Laurence McIntyre of Australia, on behalf of all 15 council members. But the necessary unanimity could not be mustered because Israel's opponents insisted on a demand that Israel withdraw from all Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian territory occupied in the 1967 war.

The Arabs have not been pressing for a meeting of the Security Council, nor has Israel. The five permanent members of the council can veto resolutions they don't like. The last veto cast in the council was by U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali on July 26, killing a resolution that strongly deplored Israel's failure to withdraw from the occupied territory.

Before the afternoon council meeting, the 135-nation assembly was to hear statements on the new war from Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el Zayyat and Syria's deputy foreign minister, Zakaria Ismail. It was probable that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban also would speak.

With its powerful Arab, African, Asian and Communist blocs, the assembly has struck Israel repeatedly with denunciatory motions.

Ohio Weekend Traffic Toll Reaches 22

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents on Ohio's streets and highways claimed more than a score of lives for the second consecutive weekend. Multiple-death smashups Sunday pushed the toll to 22.

The worst accident of the weekend was a car-truck collision in suburban Cincinnati Sunday that killed a former Ohio high school football coach of the year and two of his children.

The count was taken from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Egypt, Israel Claim Gains In Mideast War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel said Syrian forces were "in full retreat" from the Golan Heights toward Damascus today, but Syria said its troops had repulsed the Israelis and Egypt claimed it totally controlled the east bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli state radio said Israeli troops and armor pursued the retreating Syrians. The broadcast said Syrian soldiers were running away on foot and that Syrian columns began withdrawing toward Damascus, less than 40 miles from the battle lines.

Egypt, meanwhile, said its tanks punched deeper into the Sinai under cover from warplanes knocking out vital Israeli defenses. Israel said its forces were on the offensive and had destroyed all bridges across the Suez Canal, trapping Egyptian troops in the desert without supplies.

In Washington, President Nixon said the United States seeks support in the U.N. Security Council for a position "we hope and believe will be effective," but gave no indication as to the nature of the Mideast proposal the United States will present to the council.

The Israeli state radio's authoritative commentator, Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, said Israeli tanks were slashing toward the canal with fresh crews and said Israel was near a "dramatic turning point" in the three-day-old war.

But an Egyptian communique broadcast by Cairo radio said the Israeli attempt to destroy cross-canal pontoon assault bridges had failed and Egyptian jets were blasting Israeli airfields in support of advancing Egyptian armor.

A communique from the Syrian military command also reported heavy fighting on the other major front, the Golan Heights near Israel's northeastern border with Syria. The Damascus broadcast claimed Syrian jets backing ground troops in the heights knocked down 32 more Israeli fighters.

That brought the kill count claimed by Syria and Egypt to more than a fourth of Israel's 480-plane air force. The Tel Aviv command has kept silent but declared it had command of the skies on both fronts.

Israel said that it fought a holding action Saturday and Sunday while it brought up its reserves, but this morning its warplanes hit five Syrian air bases and Egyptian targets.

A communique reported heavy losses and damage inflicted on the Syrians. The Israeli command said the Egyptians sent "a large number" of planes on bombing missions deep in the Sinai desert, and five of them were brought down in dogfights or by ground fire.

The Israeli radio said furious air battles raged over both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and claimed they were the first such aerial actions of the new war.

As the new Middle East war went into its third day, Arab guerrillas hit Israeli settlements in North Galilee with Katyusha rockets and mortars, but no casualties were reported. The Israeli radio said most of the attacks came from southern Lebanon.

An effort to get a cease-fire appeal from the U.N. Security Council collapsed Sunday because the Russians, Chinese and other allies of the Arabs insisted that it contain a demand for Israel to give up the territory it seized in the 1967 war. A council meeting requested by the United States was expected this afternoon, but Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Israel would not accept a cease-fire until the Arab forces were driven back to the lines they crossed Saturday.

An Israeli communique Sunday night said the Egyptians have suffered heavy losses in armored duels and from Israeli air strikes. It said that Israel has consolidated its forces on the Egyptian front.

The communique said that air strikes have damaged or destroyed nine of the 11 pontoon bridges the Egyptians threw across the canal.

Egypt, however, said that it continued to move men across the bridges. Earlier Sunday it said it had solidified its foothold along the eastern bank of the 103-mile canal.

A broadcast by the Israeli state radio said reserve units were being brought into the fighting against the Egyptians. Foreign newsmen have been prevented from reaching the fighting areas, but Israeli radio broadcasts said Egypt had sent more than 400 tanks across the canal during the first 24 hours of fighting.

Israel said it drove the Syrians back all along the Golan Heights except at Khushniye, which is about three miles inside the old cease-fire line.

U.S. Mounts Mideast Peace Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — After exchanging personal messages with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nixon said today the United States will propose action he hopes and believes "will be effective in stopping the fighting" in the Middle East.

After Nixon talked briefly with newsmen in his Oval Office, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler disclosed that Nixon and Brezhnev exchanged private messages Sunday that were channeled through the Soviet embassy here and the American embassy in Moscow. Ziegler said the Washington-Moscow "hotline" was not used.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the United States was seeking broad international support for a move in the United Nations Security Council that they hope could lead to an end to the conflict.

Ziegler, conducting his first press briefing in weeks, said Kissinger has been in close touch with the foreign ministers of Egypt and Israel. Ziegler expressed the view that these contacts "perhaps give us a better opportunity" to promote an end to the fighting than was possible during the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Ziegler said Kissinger has been in close touch with "all parties who have an interest in the area." He said the meetings included an unannounced meeting Saturday night with Huang Chen, head of Communist China's liaison office in Washington.

The press secretary said the U.S. objective is an end to the fighting followed by a search for an over-all Middle East settlement.

Because of the new Arab-Israeli conflict, Ziegler said Nixon is canceling plans to fly to Carthage, Tenn., Saturday to dedicate a dam named for former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Asked if the United States felt the Soviet Union was prepared to urge restraint by its Arab allies as a result of the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges, Ziegler said, "I don't think now is the time to characterize the attitude" of any other nation.

Ziegler said he could not get into details of Nixon's exchange with Brezhnev.

"It's a serious situation . . . and we are doing everything we can on the diplomatic side," Ziegler said.

When a reporter asked if Nixon's cancellation of the planned trip to Tennessee reflected presidential pessimism over prospects for an early end to the fighting, Ziegler said he would not predict developments in the United Nations or on the battlefronts.

Nixon transmitted a message to Brezhnev Sunday before leaving Key Biscayne, Fla., Ziegler said, and Brezhnev's response was received after the President returned to the White House late Sunday night. Ziegler indicated only two messages — one in each direction — were involved.

He said Nixon had not been in personal contact with any other world leader except Brezhnev.

Earlier in the day, Nixon had told newsmen that he wants to avoid "any grandstand play" in the Middle East situation.

Nixon interrupted a morning meeting in his Oval Office with Kissinger to chat briefly with newsmen about the Middle East situation.

Cairo And Damascus Residents Mostly Calm Despite Battles

CAIRO (AP) — The usual Sunday crowds strolled the streets of Cairo, seemingly unconcerned that Israeli jets along the Suez Canal were only seven minutes away.

But by 9:30 p.m. the Egyptian capital was almost blacked out, and few people were on the streets. There were no air raids, but all the papers carried detailed instructions of what to do in case of one.

Thousands of Syrians fled into air raid shelters in Damascus, the other Arab war capital, following Israeli air strikes on military airfields near the city, sources reached by telephone reported.

Israeli and Syrian jets continuously streaked over the capital.

Many persons spent more than an hour in the shelters. There were no reported strikes in the ancient city itself.

The sources reported there were no air raid sirens but said people fled to the shelters after hearing the thuds of explosions around the city.

The Egyptian government issued communique on the progress of the fighting Saturday and early Sunday. But they dwindled as the fighting continued, and by 9:30 p.m. Sunday there had been no new report for nearly seven hours. There was speculation that things weren't going as well as the government would like.

The television network showed a two-minute film of Egyptian tanks and troops crossing a pontoon bridge over the Suez Canal, waving their guns jubilantly. Soldiers were also shown raising the Egyptian flag, and the announcer said it was happening in the Sinai Desert, which Israel has occupied since the 1967 war.

Cairo Radio announced that the sugar ration would be halved, and within half an hour many stores had none.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — After being sharply lower near opening today, stock market prices began recovering. But they remained on the downside in what analysts said was a correction spurred by the unexpected outbreak of war in the Mideast.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been down more than 10 points near opening, was down 2.10 at 969.15. Declining Big Board issues had a 3-to-1 lead over advancers in strong volume. The Dow blue-chip indicator ended last week at its highest closing level since mid-March.

International oils were down in heavy volume after several issues were delayed in opening because of order imbalances.

Five Persons Cited In Weekend Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies cited five persons involved in injury accidents over the weekend.

Eighteen-year-old Michael F. Kean, Springfield, was cited for driving left of center, when he was involved in a three-car accident 9:55 a.m. Saturday on State Route 56.

Travelling east on Route 56 Kean was attempting to pass another vehicle when his auto sideswiped a car travelling west driven by Rodney E. Barton, 26, Columbus.

Impact of the accident caused Kean's car to go off the left side of the road striking a car parked in a private driveway owned by Shirley A. Knece, Route 4, Circleville.

Sheriff's Deputy Robert Hoover investigated the accident.

Jacqueline S. Coffland, 19, Chillicothe was cited for assured clear distance ahead when she ran into the rear of a trailer 10:15 a.m. Saturday on U.S. Route 23, at Emerson Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley, a trailer being pulled by Kenneth H. Heney, 22, Northridge, Mass. was traveling north on Route 23 at Emerson Road attempting to make a left hand turn.

The Coffland auto, also driving north in the passing lane, saw the Heney car making the turn and applied her brakes, but was unable to stop in time striking the trailer in the rear.

Sheriff's Deputy John Bost investigated a two-car accident 10:45 a.m. Saturday on U.S. Route 23 at Emerson Road, with Nancy J. Lee, 29, Route 2, Circleville, being cited for assured clear distance ahead.

Ms. Lee was driving south on Route 23 when she saw a car in front of her driven by Loretta L. Vance, 19, Route 1, Amanda, slowing down.

Unable to stop, the Lee auto struck the Vance auto in the right rear.

Passengers in the Vance auto receiving injuries were: Nellie R. Vance, 56, contusions to head and Lettie Vance, 86, contusions to neck and back. Both were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

4 Persons Are Slain; Man Sought

OVANDO, Mont. (AP) — Four persons died Sunday in a bizarre shooting incident on a dude ranch near this western Montana community.

Police launched a search for a former mental patient from Decatur, Ill., who officers said was seen leaving the ranch carrying rifles and shotguns.

Powell County Sheriff David J. Collings said a first-degree murder warrant for a man who had worked at the Whitetail Ranch under the alias of Tex McCord, Collings said the man's true name apparently was Roger Caryl.

Collings said eyewitnesses to the shootings of two of the victims reported that a man walked into the main building of the Whitetail Ranch and said "Here's hello from Tex!" before shooting a woman and an Escondido, Calif., man who had recently bought the ranch.

Collings said a check of the ranch property yielded the bodies of a man and his son who had been Caryl's fellow workers during his brief tenure at the ranch.

Found fatally wounded from shotgun blasts in the main ranchhouse were John Ross Miller, 24, formerly of California, and Mrs. Ruby Judd, 62.

Collings said an automobile Caryl drove from the scene was found wrecked on a nearby road.

Collings said a first-degree murder warrant was issued for Caryl.

Town Faces Federal Bill

HISEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — This Southwestern Kentucky town, whose budget was boosted by federal revenue sharing funds, now is facing a budget crisis: It must give Uncle Sam his money back.

"It's a simple story," says William C. Phillips, mayor of the Warren County town of 160. "They sent us some money and we spent it in good faith."

But the Office of Revenue Sharing in Washington has ruled that Hiseville, one of 37 Kentucky communities which got too much federal money last year, must repay the $1,727 it received. In addition, since the town has no city property tax, it is not eligible for any more checks.

Phillips has asked the Office of Revenue Sharing for a reprieve or at least some time to get the repayment together. The town spent $1,000 of its money on remodeling its city hall and sent a check to Washington with the unspent portion.

Phillips, whose town's annual budget of about $1,000 comes from a utility tax and community fund-raising activities, says: "We've complied with everything we were supposed to. And now they say they want their money back. I don't know what to think."

Avenue, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a lacerated head and contusions to the chest and Maxine H. Wilson for a lacerated chest.

Donald E. Wiseman, 20, Route 1, Orient, received a contusion to the right hand and Christine M. Wiseman, 19, Route 1, Orient, received an abrasion to the right side of the face and contusions to the body. Both were treated and released at the hospital.

Sixteen-year-old Joseph W. Helsel, Route 1, Ashville was cited for reckless operation when he ran his car into a house on the East-Ringgold Northern Road 1:15 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Helsel drove off the left side of the road into a drain ditch, going across the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road striking a house owned by Everett Blanton, Route 1, Ashville.

Helsel told Deputy Kuhn he fell asleep.

3 Shootings At Cleveland Gang Work?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland homicide detectives have joined the investigation of the slayings of two men and the wounding of a third southeast of Cleveland.

Ex-convict Robert Boggess, 33, of Mayfield Heights and William Whitcomb, 33, address unknown were found shot to death about a mile apart Saturday-Whitcomb in Twinsburg Township and Boggess in Oakwood.

Wounded was 38-year-old Salvatore Carcione of Northfield, who told police he was shot while telephoning from a public booth in Oakwood.

Carcione was reported in serious condition under police guard in Bedford Community Hospital.

Police said several possible reasons for the shootings were being investigated, including a possible link with Cleveland's Model Cities program.

A notebook found in Carcione's pocket reportedly contained a reference to the Aug. 6 shooting and wounding of Model Cities director Robert Doggett outside his offices.

Police said Carcione has a record dating back to 1957. He and Boggess were convicted in 1968 of beating a Middleburg Heights coin dealer and robbing him of a $30,000 collection.

Police said little was known about Whitcomb. Identification was delayed several hours because no papers or other identifying materials were found on the body.

Oakwood acting Police Chief Donald Barney said Boggess and Carcione were "not small time hoods. They were big operators."

Police sources said one theory was that a fallout over splitting criminal loot might have been involved in the shootings.

Carcione was paroled from prison last May after serving about five years. Boggess was paroled after only six months in prison.

Jacqueline S. Coffland, 19, Chillicothe was cited for assured clear distance ahead when she ran into the rear of a trailer 10:15 a.m. Saturday on U.S. Route 23, at Emerson Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley, a trailer being pulled by Kenneth H. Heney, 22, Northridge, Mass. was traveling north on Route 23 at Emerson Road attempting to make a left hand turn.

The Coffland auto, also driving north in the passing lane, saw the Heney car making the turn and applied her brakes, but was unable to stop in time striking the trailer in the rear.

Sheriff's Deputy John Bost investigated a two-car accident 10:45 a.m. Saturday on U.S. Route 23 at Emerson Road, with Nancy J. Lee, 29, Route 2, Circleville, being cited for assured clear distance ahead.

Ms. Lee was driving south on Route 23 when she saw a car in front of her driven by Loretta L. Vance, 19, Route 1, Amanda, slowing down.

Unable to stop, the Lee auto struck the Vance auto in the right rear.

Passengers in the Vance auto receiving injuries were: Nellie R. Vance, 56, contusions to head and Leticia Vance, 36, contusions to neck and back. Both were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident on the Circleville-London-Northern Road 2:25 p.m. Saturday investigated by Sheriff's Deputy John Bost.

4 Persons Are Slain; Man Sought

OVANDO, Mont. (AP) — Four persons died Sunday in a bizarre shooting incident on a dude ranch near this western Montana community.

Police launched a search for a former mental patient from Decatur, Ill., who officers said was seen leaving the ranch carrying rifles and shotguns.

Powell County Sheriff David J. Collings said a first-degree murder warrant for a man who had worked at the Whitetail Ranch under the alias of Tex McCord. Collings said the man's true name apparently was Roger Caryl.

Collings said eyewitnesses to the shootings of two of the victims reported that a man walked into the main building of the Whitetail Ranch and said "Here's hello from Tex!" before shooting a woman and an Escondido, Calif., man who had recently bought the ranch.

Collings said a check of the ranch property yielded the bodies of a man and his son who had been Caryl's fellow workers during his brief tenure at the ranch.

Found fatally wounded from shotgun blasts in the main ranchhouse were John Ross Miller, 24, formerly of California, and Mrs. Ruby Judd, 62.

Collings said an automobile Caryl drove from the scene was found wrecked on a nearby road.

Collings said a first-degree murder warrant was issued for Caryl.

Town Faces Federal Bill

HISEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — This Southwestern Kentucky town, whose budget was boosted by federal revenue sharing funds, now is facing a budget crisis: It must give Uncle Sam his money back.

"It's a simple story," says William C. Phillips, mayor of the Barren County town of 160. "They sent us some money and we spent it in good faith."

But the Office of Revenue Sharing in Washington has ruled that Hiseville, one of 37 Kentucky communities which got too much federal money last year, must repay the $1,727 it received. In addition, since the town has no city property tax, it is not eligible for any more checks.

Phillips has asked the Office of Revenue Sharing for a reprieve—or at least some time to get the repayment together. The town spent $1,000 of its money on remodeling its city hall and sent a check to Washington with the unspent portion.

Phillips, whose town's annual budget of about $1,000 comes from a utility tax and community fund-raising activities, says: "We've complied with everything we were supposed to. And now they say they want their money back. I don't know what to think."

Avenue, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a lacerated head and contusions to the chest and Maxine H. Wilson for a lacerated chest.

Donald E. Wiseman, 20, Route 1, Orient, received a contusion to the right hand and Christine M. Wiseman, 19, Route 1, Orient, received an abrasion to the right side of the face and contusions to the body. Both were treated and released at the hospital.

Sixteen-year-old Joseph W. Helsel, Route 1, Ashville was cited for reckless operation when he ran his car into a house on the East-Ringgold Northern Road 1:15 a.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Helsel drove off the left side of the road into a drain ditch, going across the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road striking a house owned by Everett Blanton, Route 1, Ashville.

Helsel told Deputy Kuhn he fell asleep.

3 Shootings At Cleveland Gang Work?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland homicide detectives have joined the investigation of the slayings of two men and the wounding of a third southeast of Cleveland.

Ex-convict Robert Boggess, 33, of Mayfield Heights and William Whitcomb, 33, address unknown were found shot to death about a mile apart Saturday—Whitcomb in Twinsburg Township and Boggess in Oakwood.

Wounded was 38-year-old Salvatore Carcione of Northfield, who told police he was shot while telephoning from a public booth in Oakwood.

Carcione was reported in serious condition under police guard in Bedford Community Hospital.

Police said several possible reasons for the shootings were being investigated, including a possible link with Cleveland's Model Cities program.

A notebook found in Carcione's pocket reportedly contained a reference to the Aug. 6 shooting and wounding of Model Cities director Robert Doggett outside his offices.

Police said Carcione has a record dating back to 1957. He and Boggess were convicted in 1968 of beating a Middleburg Heights coin dealer and robbing him of a $30,000 collection.

Police said little was known about Whitcomb. Identification was delayed several hours because no papers or other identifying materials were found on the body.

Oakwood acting Police Chief Donald Barney said Boggess and Carcione were "not small time hoods. They were big operators."

Police sources said one theory was that a fallout over splitting criminal loot might have been involved in the shootings.

Carcione was paroled from prison last May after serving about five years. Boggess was paroled after only six months in prison.

Rally Scheduled To Protest War

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A mass rally has been called for tonight by the Cincinnati Board of Rabbis to protest fighting in the Mideast.

The rally will be held at the Adath Israel Congregation, a 2,500-member synagogue in suburban Amberley Village, according to Rabbi Albert A. Goldman, chairman of the rabbinical board.

Cincinnati is the home of Reformed Judaism in America, born from the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, which is located here.

"We ask you to join in fervent prayer for the immediate cessation of the war," said Goldman in a public release.

Report Black Colleges In Financial Trouble

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Christopher F. Edley, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, says black colleges still provide a major part of the black leadership training because white schools "don't know how to teach ghetto students."

But Edley said the black colleges are in financial trouble and "our backs are against the wall."

See NAACP Suit Against Schools

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Nathaniel R. Jones, general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says that group probably will file a federal suit to end alleged segregation in the Cleveland public school system.

Jones, formerly an assistant U.S. attorney in Northern Ohio, told the annual convention of the Ohio NAACP in Cleveland Saturday there is "more segregation in the public schools of Cleveland (Ohio) than in those of Cleveland, Miss." He charged that schools in this city operate on what he called a "biracial system"—six white schools and six black schools.

McArthur Meeting Scheduled Over Walkout By Teachers

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The Parents Committee of the Vinton County School District has called a meeting Tuesday to discuss ways to combat the current school crisis.

Committee spokesman Keith Waters said the group has held several community-level sessions, but decided to try a meeting of parents from throughout the district after School Supt. Kenneth Christopher changed his mind about closing school.

"We've invited both teachers and the school board in hopes of ending the strike," Waters said.

Meanwhile, teachers in the LaBrea school district in Trumbull County called a strike Sunday night after negotiations with the school board broke down.

The teachers have been working without a contract since school began last month.

Teachers president Patrick Gaia said pickets would begin marching today if no agreement is worked out.

Gaia said there has been little progress in contract talks since last February. The major issues are salaries and sick leave, he said.

School Supt. Harold Everling said he would try to keep the schools open despite the picketing.

The district's non-certified workers voted Saturday to observe the teachers' picket line, even though the non-professional staff has a contract with the school board.

Eighty-seven Vinton County teachers walked off the job last month after negotiations broke down over dismissal policy and grievance procedures.

Fireman Shot Attempting To Escape

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gordon "Spunky" Firman, the "barefoot bandit" of 1960, was in good condition Sunday night at a prison hospital here after being shot at least four times while trying to escape from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility.

Firman was transferred to the Central Medical Center at Ohio Penitentiary after being shot in both arms, one leg and the chest, prison officials said.

The spokesman said Firman bolted for a double wire fence around the Lucasville prison while on the way back from a visit in another part of the institution.

Verbal orders and several warning shots failed to halt him, the spokesman said. Firman had climbed the first fence and reached the top of the second and last enclosure when he was shot.

The spokesman said Firman tried to climb the fence again after being shot, but was pulled down by a guard.

But the 34-year-old Firman was not the same man who was shot by police in 1960 and scornfully told them, "Give me a pen knife and I'll dig the slug out myself."

Firman made good on a jail break attempt in 1960 and plagued police around the state with a series of kidnappings and chases before he was apprehended. The escapee earned him nicknames such as the "free-wheeling bandit of Malhonding Valley."

Firman tried another escape in the winter of 1961 with 70 yards of knotted sheets, but the attempt failed.

Elections Boards Receive Payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 88 boards of elections have received $983,545 to cover expenses incurred in special elections in May of 1972 and 1973, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said.

Brown said under state law, the state must reimburse the counties for expenses incurred solely because of state issues on the ballot.

Payment was approved by the legislature this year.

Each county's payment is based on a statement of expenses filed with the secretary of state, Brown said.

There are 3,500 dog shows held in Britain each year.

The school board fired the teachers after invoking a state law prohibiting strikes by public employees.

Supt. Christopher agreed to close Vinton County schools after a meeting with angry parents, but reversed himself days later after a meeting with the school board and opponents of the closing.

Air Cargo Dream

For an older generation of Americans which remembers the dirigibles which flew gracefully overhead during the '20s and '30s, announcement that a partnership or a group here or there plans to build huge blimps to be used as freight carriers brings back pleasant memories.

That's all any of the plans can ever be, skeptics keep saying—just a dream. But the transport dirigibles are envisioned by their supporters as major workhorses of the future.

Such tasks as unloading ships at sea and transporting the cargo to final destination, or hauling huge prefabricated bridges, oil rigs and missile components would be a cinch for LTA (lighter than air) transports, dirigible enthusiasts say.

But it isn't merely the unusual type of transportation problem LTA supporters are looking for. They claim they will be able to haul larger loads cross-country faster than trucks, and at competitive rates, and do the same job jet transports are now doing, while landing at airports unable to accommodate jet craft.

Reports that the Soviet Union also is experimenting with LTA transports and West Germans and others are looking into the possibilities of similar research lends credence to the dream.

Von Mises On Socialism

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Economist Ludwig von Mises is 92-years old and critically ill. His name is not exactly household currency outside his own profession, but if anyone has been heart and soul of the reaction against our 40-year indulgence in inflationary policies it is "Lou" von Mises. Normally, the world is fecund with praise for its showmen, its Bernard Shaws, its Kenneth Galbraiths and its John Maynard Keyneses, while they are still alive. Genuine innovators such as von Mises have to wait for death to gain their rightful recognition. It is all very unfair, but the truth does eventually catch up with the showmen, relegating them to the historical footnote positions where they belong.

An Austrian who got out of Vienna in 1934 just before Hitler came in, von Mises had achieved a European reputation long before emigrating to the U.S. in 1940. In the Twenties he had written a great book called "Socialism" which made the truly prophetic point that Communism, in a world of disappearing capitalist markets, would discover that it had no way of solving the problem of economic calculation. Without the free shifting of prices, the swings of supply and demand, the "planning" mind would not be able to set production quotas with any sense of realism.

A world without a market system would be plagued with too many pairs of shoes and not enough sets of underwear, or too much investment in second-rate ballet and not enough in good publishing houses. "Malinvestment" would surely characterize an economy based on the guesswork of a "planning" elite about popular demand, and the difficulty in satisfying consumers under total socialism would, in all certainty, force the government to build up its army, its police power and its engines of propaganda to keep the dissidents in line.

Some 30 or more years after von Mises wrote his prophetic book, economists in Communist countries were compelled to experiment with schemes for reviving the free market within socialist confines on an "as if" basis. They have found that it can't be done without running into endless trouble. The Czechs, in that ill-fated "Prague Spring," so frightened Moscow with their attempted return to bourgeois principles of free exchange that they brought on an invasion by Soviet tanks. The Yugoslavs, who are geographically safe from quick Soviet invasion, have had to let worker groups take title to factories, which is halfway recognition of the need for non-State ownership of the means of production if there is to be any semblance of a free market.

Ludwig von Mises, with his piercing logic, knew that socialists would have to return to the principles of capitalism

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of my son's friends developed whooping cough and was dreadfully sick. I thought this was a disease that no longer exists.

Mrs. M.Y., Wisc.

Dear Mrs. Y.:

Whooping cough, or pertussis, is a highly contagious and readily communicable disease. Fortunately, the dreaded complications of this condition and the severity of it have been almost completely removed in children who have been properly immunized. The disease is caused by the bacillus pertussis. The incubation period for those who have been exposed to it is usually about seven to 14 days.

Many people take for granted the wonders of the vaccine that virtually has wiped out whooping cough from the health scene in developed countries. It still exists where the vaccine is not used and where immunization is not kept up.

It is most distressing to believe that anyone, child or adult, should be deprived of the magnificent scientific strides that brought this and other vaccines to us.

I develop terrible crusts of the nose. No matter how frequently I remove them, they form again. Can anything be done about this most unpleasant condition?

Steel Shortages Possible In 1974

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Part of the U.S. steel market may go begging next year with combined U.S. and foreign steel supplies unable to meet demand, Industry Week magazine reported this week.

Along with the grim picture is a realization that foreign steel shipments have become a vital part of the U.S. market, the magazine said.

"Today foreign steel is purchased by U.S. steel users not because of price advantage but out of necessity," the magazine said. "It appears that a situation domestic steelmakers have long struggled to avoid has arrived: foreign steel has become a part of the U.S. steel capacity equation."

Next year's domestic steel demand should remain at the 120 million ton annual level achieved this year, but the magazine said "steelmakers see no way that demand can be matched by availability from domestic or foreign sources."

Steel companies estimate this year's shipments will be a record 107 million to 110 million tons with foreign steel adding about 15.6 million tons.

But Industry Week said next year's domestic steel shipments are figured no higher than 104 million tons, with a drop in foreign shipments because of

Western College Merger Fought

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Some 350 students at Western College hope to save their school by raising $5 million in a massive play for publicity—including purchasing New York State Lottery tickets.

The campaign formed Thursday when the students held a mass meeting and asked President William Spencer why their 121-year old private school is about to be merged with Miami University, a state school.

As the first step, said Susan McBridge, a senior from Pittsburgh, the students raised $375 to buy the lottery tickets. An unidentified faculty member agreed to buy the tickets in New York City today while he was there for a business meeting.

Chronic infection of the sinuses, especially those that have been untreated and neglected, may result in the condition you describe.

Sometimes the mucous membrane lining of the nose becomes inactive or atrophic and does not function properly. A condition known as atrophic rhinitis may result.

Crusting, sometimes associated with an unpleasant odor, is the end result.

Diligent cleansing of the nose with gentle solutions can help to relieve the crusting. Solutions of cortisone may be helpful in reactivating the lining of the nose and reducing the crusting.

Various types of oil are used to lubricate the lining of the nose, to soften the crust, and reduce the frequencies of their recurrence.

For what medical condition is a low-salt diet usually prescribed?

Miss Y.D., Kan.

Dear Miss Y.D.:

I do not gather from your letter that there are any medical problems bothering you at the moment. I assume that your question can be classed as scientific curiosity.

A low-salt, or sodium, diet is prescribed for some cases of high blood pressure, swelling associated with kidney disease, and for patients with some irregularity of the heart. Drastic reduction of salt should never be undertaken without the specific recommendation of the doctor.

Paraplegics Part-Time Policemen

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Donald Sizelove and Frank Salais are part-time students and part-time policemen. But they are full-time paraplegics who need wheelchairs to get around.

For the past month they have been working alternate nights as radio dispatchers for the six-member campus police force at Yuba College, where they are taking police science courses. They get academic credit, but no pay, for their police work.

"I dispatch, file, type, take phone calls, messages, things like that," Sizelove said in an interview Friday. "I've had my mind on police work since before my accident in 1971. I really haven't thought of going into anything else."

Sizelove, 20, and Salais, 31, were paralyzed in unrelated auto accidents.

Sizelove, who drives a van specially equipped to accommodate his wheelchair, plans to graduate from the two-year junior college in 1975. Then, he said, he will apply for work on a police force.

"We have letters from local police forces saying they are willing to hire the handicapped if this project works out okay," Sizelove said.

An Austrian who got out of Vienna in 1934 just before Hitler came in, von Mises had achieved a European reputation long before emigrating to the U. S. in 1940. In the Twenties he had written a great book called "Socialism" which made the truly prophetic point that Communism, in a world of Disappearing capitalist markets, would discover that it had no way of solving the problem of economic calculation. Without the free shifting of prices, the swings of supply and demand, the "planning" mind would not be able to set production quotas with any sense of realism.

A world without a market system would be plagued with too many pairs of shoes and not enough sets of underwear, or too much investment in second-rate ballet and not enough in good publishing houses. "Malinvestment" would surely characterize an economy based on the guesswork of a "planning" elite about popular demand, and the difficulty in satisfying consumers under total socialism would, in all certainty, force the government to build up its army, its police power and its engines of propaganda to keep the dissidents in line.

Some 30 or more years after von Mises wrote his prophetic book, economists in Communist countries were compelled to experiment with schemes for reviving the free market within socialist confines on an "as if" basis. They have found that it can't be done without running into endless trouble. The Czechs, in that ill-fated "Prague Spring," so frightened Moscow with their attempted return to bourgeois principles of free exchange that they brought on an invasion by Soviet tanks. The Yugoslavs, who are geographically safe from quick Soviet invasion, have had to let worker groups take title to factories, which is halfway recognition of the need for non-State ownership of the means of production if there is to be any semblance of a free market.

Ludwig von Mises, with his piercing logic, knew that socialists would have to return to the principles of capitalism

if they were to avoid an eternal dependence on crude rationing. The truths he talked about were obscured for many years for one reason: the Communist and advanced socialist economies could depend on the pricing practices of the still healthy capitalist countries to tell how many pairs of shoes should be traded for how many electric razors, or how much Soviet gold should be sent to the West to buy machine tools or soy beans or wheat. To the capitalist nations von Mises, in his books on the relations of money and credit to the business cycle, preached an anti-inflationary gospel. The central bankers of the capitalist world, he noted, were all too prone to indulge in an over-optimistic credit expansion. The so-called "monetarists" have no way of knowing just how much expansion of a currency is needed to keep a price level stable. The reason is that a price level is an average of specific prices, all of which are competing against each other in competition for the available cash. Too much credit in one place produces its inevitable distortion of expectations. With his knowledge of history von Mises reverted to the essential wisdom of sociologist William Graham Sumner, who observed that "the amount of money in a country is sufficient to do the work of the country."

Von Mises's great work, "Human Action," a study of the conditions needed to release an optimum amount of productive energy in a society, has never had the popular acclaim that greets a new work by J. Kenneth Galbraith, for example. But it has affected scores of young libertarian economists. The book will live long after von Mises has himself departed from the scene. So let's give Ludwig von Mises a salute while he is still around to appreciate it.

Dear Mr. P.:

Steel Shortages Possible In 1974

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Part of the U.S. steel market may go begging next year with combined U.S. and foreign steel supplies unable to meet demand, Industry Week magazine reported this week.

Along with the grim picture is a realization that foreign steel shipments have become a vital part of the U.S. market, the magazine said.

"Today foreign steel is purchased by U.S. steel users not because of price advantage but out of necessity," the magazine said. "It appears that a situation domestic steelmakers have long struggled to avoid has arrived: foreign steel has become a part of the U.S. steel capacity equation."

Next year's domestic steel demand should remain at the 120 million ton annual level achieved this year, but the magazine said "steelmakers see no way that demand can be matched by availability from domestic or foreign sources."

Steel companies estimate this year's shipments will be a record 107 million to 110 million tons with foreign steel adding about 15.6 million tons.

But Industry Week said next year's domestic steel shipments are figured no higher than 104 million tons, with a drop in foreign shipments because of

Western College Merger Fought

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Some 350 students at Western College hope to save their school by raising $5 million in a massive play for publicity—including purchasing New York State Lottery tickets.

The campaign formed Thursday when the students held a mass meeting and asked President William Spencer why their 121-year old private school is about to be merged with Miami University, a state school.

As the first step, said Susan McBridge, a senior from Pittsburgh, the students raised $375 to buy the lottery tickets. An unidentified faculty member agreed to buy the tickets in New York City today while he was there for a business meeting.

The plants osmunda and maidenhair belong to the fern family.

Puerto Rico has a population of 2,700,000.

Chronic infection of the sinuses, especially those that have been untreated and neglected, may result in the condition you describe.

Sometimes the mucous membrane lining of the nose becomes inactive or atrophic and does not function properly. A condition known as atrophic rhinitis may result.

Crusting, sometimes associated with an unpleasant odor, is the end result.

Diligent cleansing of the nose with gentle solutions can help to relieve the crusting. Solutions of cortisone may be helpful in reactivating the lining of the nose and reducing the crusting.

Various types of oil are used to lubricate the lining of the nose, to soften the crust, and reduce the frequencies of their recurrence.

For what medical condition is a low-salt diet usually prescribed?

Miss Y.D., Kan.

Dear Miss Y.D.:

I do not gather from your letter that there are any medical problems bothering you at the moment. I assume that your question can be classed as scientific curiosity.

A low-salt, or sodium, diet is prescribed for some cases of high blood pressure, swelling associated with kidney disease, and for patients with some irregularity of the heart. Drastic reduction of salt should never be undertaken without the specific recommendation of the doctor.

increased demands overseas.

"If these developments hold true, and if 1974 demand continues at a level above 120 million tons, analysts say that domestic and foreign steel combined may be from five million to 10 million tons short of demand," the magazine said.

The magazine said federal restrictions on scrap export for the rest of the year, aimed at increasing U.S. production and lowering steel costs, also could lessen foreign steel availability.

The composite price on No. 1 heavy melting is $62.50 per gross ton, the highest since 1957, compared with the preceding week's $59.33, the magazine said.

Raw steel production was estimated at 2,872,000 tons for the week that ended Saturday.

Paraplegics Part-Time Policemen

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Donald Sizelove and Frank Salaiz are part-time students and part-time policemen. But they are full-time paraplegics who need wheelchairs to get around.

For the past month they have been working alternate nights as radio dispatchers for the six-member campus police force at Yuba College, where they are taking police science courses. They get academic credit, but no pay, for their police work.

"I dispatch, file, type, take phone calls, messages, things like that," Sizelove said in an interview Friday. "I've had my mind on police work since before my accident in 1971. I really haven't thought of going into anything else."

Sizelove, 20, and Salaiz, 31, were paralyzed in unrelated auto accidents.

Sizelove, who drives a van specially equipped to accommodate his wheel chair, plans to graduate from the two-year junior college in 1975. Then, he said, he will apply for work on a police force.

"We have letters from local police forces saying they are willing to hire the handicapped if this project works out okay," Sizelove said.

Newspapers Act To Live With Newsprint Shortages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The newsprint shortage has forced the nation's newspapers to experiment with the kind and amount of news they offer. Some editors see unexpected benefits in the cutbacks they have had to make.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association mailed questionnaires on the newsprint shortage and its effects to its members.

The APME survey showed that 295 of the 470 newspapers which replied had cut some news from the paper. Others cut advertising or reduced circulation.

Almost 100 of the papers reported that there was a good side to the shortage. Fifty-two of the newspapers said they would not reinstate all of the material they cut because they discovered some was outmoded or unneeded. Thirty-three papers said the newsprint shortage caused tighter writing and editing and six papers said they received valuable response from readers as a result of the crunch.

"We realized that many 'sacred cows' were not so revered when their excommunication provoked little, if any, adverse reaction," said a spokesman for the Herald Dispatch of Huntington, W.Va.

The Review Times of Fostoria, Ohio, said it was using the shortage "as an excuse to make a number of changes we've been unable to make before." The Asbury Park, N.J., Press said the tight paper situation was "a great excuse to cut out traditional nonnews."

The Union, in Grass Valley, Calif., said it "cleaned up typography — eliminated space waste."

The newspapers also said they learned more about what people want to read.

"We learned that bridge column fans are fanatic," said the Minneapolis Star.

"We've found what we can drop and what we can't," agreed the Herald-Telephone of Bloomington, Ind. "Dropped half (the) comics one day and were deluged with protest. Response to other deletions hasn't been comparable."

Some papers said they had made plans in case the shortage — caused by strikes at mills and railroads in Canada — gets worse.

DeWitt H. Scott, executive editor of The Express of Easton, Pa., said he had a detailed plan of action in case further cutbacks are necessary.

"I think newspapers should have such battle plans ready just as they do for a racial riot, a blizzard, flood or other emergency," Scott said. "Above all, I think we should be forthright with our readers, telling them in front-page stories what we are doing and why. Part of our ... planning, for instance, involves asking the readers to advise us on what they consider most expendable."

The Clearwater, Fla., Sun, however, said "Reader response is a bad guide for eliminating most types of material. Perhaps we have benefitted from a more intense self-examination."

Most papers said the readers really didn't react to cutbacks. Only 39 editors reported overwhelmingly negative reaction from readers; many others said the readers weren't happy, but accepted the situation with understanding.

Deletion of things like the crossword puzzle, the comics, the horoscope and the bridge column drew the most protests, editors said.

The Minneapolis Tribune said it got 109 calls the first day after it dropped the crossword puzzle. It was restored. The Morning Record of Meriden, Conn., reinstated the horoscope after protests from readers.

The type and size of cutbacks varied with the size and location of the newspaper.

One of the survey questions asked newspapers which they would cut first: international news, national news, features and women's news, sports or local news. Of the 295 papers which responded that they had cut some news, 140 said they cut international news first, 35 said national news, 67 reported features and women's news, 14 said sports and 11 said local news. The remainder cut stock lists or TV schedules or other tabular material.

Another question asked the papers to specify the categories which they had cut.

around news or advertising; 11 made type smaller, and 10 made major changes in their editorial pages to include advertising or general news.

The survey found 201 newspapers using AP news summaries some or all of the time. The summaries, condensations of world, national and Washington news, were inaugurated by AP to help newspapers conserve space during the newsprint pinch.

Only 47 per cent of the newspapers with a circulation of over 200,000 said they cut the amount of news in the paper as a result of the shortage. Sixty per cent of the papers with a circulation under 25,000 cut news; 70 per cent with a circulation between 25,000 and 75,000 reduced the news, and 73 per cent of the 75,000 to 100,000 group made news cutbacks.

The cuts varied in size. In the under-25,000 circulation bracket, the typical reduction was 40 columns a day or 60 per cent of the size of the paper. In the over-200,000 category, the most common cutback was also 40 columns, but it comprised only 20 per cent of the space normally devoted to news.

Fewer than 9 per cent of the papers responding to the survey cut advertising, and ad reduction was more common in larger papers. The most frequent methods of reducing advertising were the elimination of special sections and the banning of five-column advertisements.

Dear Abby:

Artificial Breast?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 45-year-old married woman who fortunately survived breast cancer three years ago. My right breast was removed, and although I wear a padded bra and look normal in clothes, I haven't totally adjusted to my loss, even though my husband has been very kind and understanding.

I suppose I will sound vain and silly (that's why I haven't spoken to my doctor about this) but I would like to know if it is possible for a plastic surgeon to reconstruct an artificial breast and successfully make it part of me?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: I have discussed your problem with my plastic surgery advisor, Dr. Eugene Worton, who advises me that every case must be evaluated individually. Whether it would depend upon the type of surgery you had (the size and location of the removed tumor.) He suggests you contact a qualified plastic and reconstructive surgeon, and discuss it with him.

DEAR ABBY: How does a woman let her friends know she is available? I am being divorced, and a woman my age can't afford to waste much time, so I'd like to have it known that I am in the market for a new husband.

What do you think of having some cards printed saying: "I AM

AVAILABLE!" and without going into detail I could add: "My divorce was final March 10th" and then something cute, like: "The line forms on the left." Then my new phone number.

I suppose this would seem rather forward a few years ago, but Abby, times have changed. What do you think?

AVAILABLE
DEAR AVAILABLE: Times may have changed, but men haven't. When they play for keeps they avoid aggressive women. I recommend a more subtle way to get the word of your availability around.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAN'T BELIEVE IT IN TEXAS: I couldn't believe it either, so I wrote to the State Bar of Texas and inquired. The reply: "Dear Abby: You wrote that a woman had written to you saying that an unmarried woman cannot own property in Texas and wanted to know if it is true.

In the words of my patient and long-suffering secretary:
'An unmarried woman CAN own property in Texas-and the more, the better!'

Cordially yours,
Davis Grant, Office of Gen. Counsel

CONFIDENTIAL TO R. IN L.A.: Forgive. That is the cure, for forgiveness is the fragrance of a violet on the heels of the one who crushed it.

Artificial Breast?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 45-year-old married woman who fortunately survived breast cancer three years ago. My right breast was removed, and although I wear a padded bra and look normal in clothes, I haven't totally adjusted to my loss, even though my husband has been very kind and understanding.

I suppose I'll sound vain and silly (that's why I haven't spoken to my doctor about this) but I would like to know if it is possible for a plastic surgeon to reconstruct an artificial breast and successfully make it part of me?

MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: I have discussed your problem with my plastic surgery advisor, Dr. Eugene Worton, who advises me that every case must be evaluated individually. Whether it would depend upon the type of surgery you had (the size and location of the removed tumor.) He suggests you contact a qualified plastic and reconstructive surgeon, and discuss it with him.

DEAR ABBY: How does a woman let her friends know she is available? I am being divorced, and a woman my age can't afford to waste much time, so I'd like to have it known that I am in the market for a new husband.

What do you think of having some cards printed saying: "I AM

AVAILABLE!" and without going into detail I could add: "My divorce was final March 10th" and then something cute, like: "The line forms on the left." Then my new phone number.

I suppose this would seem rather forward a few years ago, but Abby, times have changed. What do you think?

AVAILABLE

DEAR AVAILABLE: Times may have changed, but men haven't. When they play for keeps they avoid aggressive women. I recommend a more subtle way to get the word of your availability around.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAN'T BELIEVE IT IN TEXAS: I couldn't believe it either, so I wrote to the State Bar of Texas and inquired. The reply: "Dear Abby: You wrote that a woman had written to you saying that an unmarried woman cannot own property in Texas and wanted to know if it is true.

In the words of my patient and long-suffering secretary:

"An unmarried woman CAN own property in Texas-and the more, the better!"

Cordially yours,

Davis Grant, Office of Gen. Counsel

CONFIDENTIAL TO R. IN L.A.: Forgive. That is the cure, for forgiveness is the fragrance of a violet on the heels of the one who crushed it.

Tourists Remain In Israel Despite Onset Of New War

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The new Middle East war caught 30,000 to 35,000 tourists in Israel, the government estimates. But they aren't rushing to get out.

"There has been no alarm or mass exodus this time," said a spokesman for the Ministry of Tourism.

"One group said they would like to stay longer as a sign of solidarity, but their schedule called for departure tomorrow," the assistant manager of Tel Aviv's Dan Hotel reported.

Meanwhile, the Dan is filling up with foreign correspondents.

"This has been customary for the past three wars," said the hotelman.

The night manager of another Tel Aviv hotel, the suburban Sharon, said 35 Americans had decided to advance their departure several days. One of the group, John C. Leader of St. Louis, Mo., said, "This is not a place to be sightseeing when there's a war going on." But he denied that there was any alarm in the group and added, "We went sightseeing today to Haifa, and except for seeing a lot of soldiers and military vehicles around, we felt no tension."

About 1,600 tourists left by plane Sunday night after Yom Kippur, but the Ministry of Tourism said this was average after a weekend or holiday. The air raid sirens sent the Israelis to the shelters twice on Saturday, but no Arab planes were sighted. There were no alarms Sunday.

In one Tel Aviv neighborhood, the children swarmed through the shelters beneath their apartment houses, painting pictures on the concrete walls and hanging decorations.

Jane Vaknin, an immigrant from Springfield, Ill., said her 4-year-old daughter, Yael, was frightened when they first went into the shelter Saturday, "then she saw other children making an adventure of it."

Burr Oak Reopening Pondered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources says a court hearing may be necessary before Burr Oak State lodge can reopen.

The spokesman, who declined to be named, said Monroe County Common Pleas Judge Merle Hoddinott has been asked to consider a reopening date.

Meanwhile, an official of Ohio Inns, Inc., operator of the lodge, said Sunday his company is eager to reopen.

Ralph L. Ruth, vice-president of Ohio Inns, said, "When we get word from state officials, we will immediately move to reopen."

In August, Gov. John J. Gilligan ordered the facility closed for 60 days following a series of bomb threats.

The threats came amid efforts by Local 505 of the Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union to organize workers at the Athens County lodge.

Both spokesmen agreed it would take two weeks of preparation before the lodge could reopen.

Ruth said the facility must be cleaned, supplies ordered and staff organized.

scrapes apparently are doing little to discourage Ohio's politicians. At least evidence is scarce.

With the exception of U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who talks about retirement, the field looms large for the more than 500 state, congressional, and local district offices up for grabs in 1974.

Some candidates are off and running early, despite the distant Feb. 6 filing deadline for most races. All but candidates for the state Board of Education must file by 4 p.m. that day. Board candidates need not file until Aug. 7.

Besides Saxbe's Senate seat, all of the state's 23 congressmen will be up for re-election. There also are contests for governor, lieutenant governor, chief justice, two associate Supreme Court justices, attorney general, auditor, secretary of state, and treasurer.

Export Data Release Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, under orders from Congress, will begin announcing next month weekly export figures for a variety of crops, including wheat, corn, cotton and soybeans.

Officials said Friday the first report will be issued Nov. 2 and will cover export sales made during a two-week period, Oct. 6-21. Thereafter, the reports will be issued weekly.

Congress, in writing the Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, specified that USDA set up a system to keep track of farm exports. Other commodities to be tabulated include wheat products, barley, rye, oats, grain sorghum, rice, cottonseed, flaxseed and oils.

The reporting system by USDA will gradually replace one in which exporters list commodity sales for delivery with the Commerce Department. Those reports began last July as an administration attempt to keep track of exports.

But the Agriculture Department, which releases the figures for Commerce, has expressed doubts that the listings are correct. Officials have contended that listings of grain intended for "unidentified" destinations contain duplications or, possibly, amounts that will not leave the United States.

The new system will aim at wringing out export duplications so the figures show more precisely how shipments are shaping up. Officials say it may take some time before the kinks are worked out.

Medicaid Plan Funds Requested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board is expected to act next week on the state Welfare Department's request for $875,831 to implement a more efficient Medicaid program.

Welfare Director Charles W. Bates said on Saturday the money would generate $1.4 million in federal funds and the department could save $7.2 million through more efficient administration.

The Controlling Board is scheduled to meet Oct. 15.

Bates said he would buy new equipment and hire 169 more staff members to help reduce claim handling time from an average of 43 days to about 30.

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis, Crouse Chapel Road, the grandson of Mrs. Emmet Ankrom and nephew of Marie Goodman, both of Circleville.

Mrs. Susan Crites Frampton,

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actually, she's shy. Parties don't interest her much. And people of position? No, she's not easily impressed.

But Carolyn Hagner Shaw can tell you exactly who rates in capital society—and who doesn't.

For 30 years now, she's kept voluminous files on the fortunes and faux pas of the powerful, honoring the select with an inch or so of space in her annual Social List, a kelly green suede-covered volume appropriately called the Green Book.

And for $22, you, too, can see who counts.

John W. Dean III, who used to counsel the President, led a contingent of former administration biggies who were scratched from the list this year when they became embroiled in the Watergate scandal.

The reason? "Unpleasant notoriety," one criterion for being dropped. Death, divorce, separation and remarriage can be others.

Former presidential counselors H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman

Athens, has been appointed to the position of news writer in the Ohio University Information Office.

Mrs. Frampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Crites, Circleville, graduated summa cum laude from Ohio University in 1972 with a bachelor of science in journalism degree.

She received a master of arts degree in international affairs from OU in June through a national defense language fellowship for study of Indonesian languages.

Former residents of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Cairns announce their son, Michael R. Cairns is a freshman at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

A senior pre-med student at Transylvania University is Roger Henry Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew M. Bell, 3 Windsor Court.

W. David Winner, sophomore at Ohio University, has been chosen to become a member of the OU Marching Band. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Winner and will be playing the trombone in the band this fall.

are out. So are former White House aides Charles W. Colson, Jeb Magruder, Hugh Sloan and Egil Krogh. Former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst didn't make it either.

Tricia Nixon Cox moved to New York, so she's out. But Julie and David Eisenhower's move to suburban Bethesda, Md., caused only a Green Book address change.

Mickie Tunney is separated from her husband, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., so she's out. But he's in because he's a senator.

Saxbe Says He'll Likely Not Run

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite encouragement from Republican leaders from across the state, U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, says he probably won't run for re-election next year.

Saxbe said on Saturday he now could speak from a perspective divorced from politics.

In an interview with a Columbus television station, Saxbe said, "It's unfortunate legislators have to run for office so often. They spend 60 per cent of their time campaigning, and have only 40 per cent left for the real work of government."

But he said if senators served for a single eight-year term, "they would spend 60 per cent of that trying to elect their sons."

In recent weeks, state, county and big-city GOP leaders have issued statements making it clear they consider Saxbe the strongest Republican candidate in Ohio.

Saxbe's decision opens the door to Republicans such as Cincinnati Congressman Charles Whealon, Urbana Congressman Clarence Brown and State Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, all of whom have expressed interest in running if Saxbe did not.

The three would face challenges by widely known Democrats Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn.

Saxbe was elected to the Senate in November 1968.

Mrs. Shaw says she's not the one to black-list individuals. All final decisions on additions and deletions are left to her "board," but she won't reveal who is on the board.

During an interview in her red brick Georgetown house, Mrs. Shaw, 69, said that in past years, she was threatened with lawsuits by some who weren't included on her list. The crime? "Ruining their social standing."

Others tried to bribe her by sending cases of liquor, long stemmed red roses and beautiful, expensive books.

But all were returned, Mrs. Shaw said, "even the flowers," each item accompanied by a form letter that explained "it is not the policy of the Green Book to accept gifts."

Mrs. Shaw said that there are more prominent women listed this year than last. But women present a particular problem: how to list them.

For instance, the Nixons are listed: NIXON, the President of the United States and Mrs. Richard Milhous. (Patricia Ryan.)

But presidential counselor Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is known around the capital by her first name. So she's listed: ARMSTRONG, Counsellor to the President, Anne L. Her husband, Tobin, has his name in tiny black print underneath.

Mrs. Shaw said her new list includes a few Chinese and "a sprinkling of blacks."

HEW Proposes Wider Search For Fathers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting it can save $4 for every $1 spent, the government is offering states more money to help identify, locate and collect support payments from welfare fathers.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has invited public comments until Nov. 5 on its proposed regulation that would provide 50 per cent federal reimbursement for expenses incurred by states, courts and law enforcement officials in paternity and child support cases.

Of the 7.8 million dependent children on welfare rolls, HEW said, 76.2 per cent do not have fathers in the home, 31.4 per cent were born out of wedlock and only about 15 per cent receive some financial support from their fathers.

Mrs. Susan Crites Frampton,

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actually, she's shy. Parties don't interest her much. And people of position? No, she's not easily impressed.

But Carolyn Hagner Shaw can tell you exactly who rates in capital society—and who doesn't.

For 30 years now, she's kept voluminous files on the fortunes and faux pas of the powerful, honoring the select with an inch or so of space in her annual Social List, a kelly green suede-covered volume appropriately called the Green Book.

And for $22, you, too, can see who counts.

John W. Dean III, who used to counsel the President, led a contingent of former administration biggies who were scratched from the list this year when they became embroiled in the Watergate scandal.

The reason? "Unpleasant notoriety," one criterion for being dropped. Death, divorce, separation and remarriage can be others.

Former presidential counselors H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman

Athens, has been appointed to the position of news writer in the Ohio University Information Office.

Mrs. Frampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Crites, Circleville, graduated summa cum laude from Ohio University in 1972 with a bachelor of science in journalism degree.

She received a master of arts degree in international affairs from OU in June through a national defense language fellowship for study of Indonesian languages.

Former residents of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Cairns announce their son, Michael R. Cairns is a freshman at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

A senior pre-med student at Transylvania University is Roger Henry Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew M. Bell, 3 Windsor Court.

W. David Winner, sophomore at Ohio University, has been chosen to become a member of the OU Marching Band. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Winner and will be playing the trombone in the band this fall.

are out. So are former White House aides Charles W. Colson, Jeb Magruder, Hugh Sloan and Egil Krogh. Former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst didn't make it either.

Tricia Nixon Cox moved to New York, so she's out. But Julie and David Eisenhower's move to suburban Bethesda, Md., caused only a Green Book address change.

Mieke Tunney is separated from her husband, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., so she's out. But he's in because he's a senator.

Saxbe Says He'll Likely Not Run

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite encouragement from Republican leaders from across the state, U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, says he probably won't run for re-election next year.

Saxbe said on Saturday he now could speak from a perspective divorced from politics.

In an interview with a Columbus television station, Saxbe said, "It's unfortunate legislators have to run for office so often. They spend 60 per cent of their time campaigning, and have only 40 per cent left for the real work of government."

But he said if senators served for a single eight-year term, "they would spend 60 per cent of that trying to elect their sons."

In recent weeks, state, county and big-city GOP leaders have issued statements making it clear they consider Saxbe the strongest Republican candidate in Ohio.

Saxbe's decision opens the door to Republicans such as Cincinnati Congressman Charles Wheelon, Urbana Congressman Clarence Brown and State Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, all of whom have expressed interest in running if Saxbe did not.

The three would face challenges by widely known Democrats Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn.

Saxbe was elected to the Senate in November 1968.

Mrs. Shaw says she's not the one to black-list individuals. All final decisions on additions and deletions are left to her "board," but she won't reveal who is on the board.

During an interview in her red brick Georgetown house, Mrs. Shaw, 69, said that in past years, she was threatened with lawsuits by some who weren't included on her list. The crime? "Ruining their social standing."

Others tried to bribe her by sending cases of liquor, long stemmed red roses and beautiful, expensive books.

But all were returned, Mrs. Shaw said, "even the flowers," each item accompanied by a form letter that explained "it is not the policy of the

HEW Proposes Wider Search For Fathers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting it can save $4 for every $1 spent, the government is offering states more money to help identify, locate and collect support payments from welfare fathers.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has invited public comments until Nov. 5 on its proposed regulation that would provide 50 per cent federal reimbursement for expenses incurred by states, courts and law enforcement officials in paternity and child support cases.

Of the 7.8 million dependent children on welfare rolls, HEW said, 76.2 per cent do not have fathers in the home, 31.4 per cent were born out of wedlock and only about 15 per cent receive some financial support from their fathers.

Green Book to accept gifts."

Mrs. Shaw said that there are more prominent women listed this year than last. But women present a particular problem: how to list them.

For instance, the Nixons are listed: NIXON, the President of the United States and Mrs. Richard Milhous. (Patricia Ryan.)

But presidential counselor Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is known around the capital by her first name. So she's listed: ARMSTRONG, Counsellor to the President, Anne L. Her husband, Tobin, has his name in tiny black print underneath.

Mrs. Shaw said her new list includes a few Chinese and "a sprinkling of blacks."

Mets Rap Reds, 5-0

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rolled to 17 more regular-season victories than the New York Mets, but their National League playoff season was tied at one win apiece as it switched to Shea Stadium here today.

The Mets, who underwhelmed the East Division with an 82-79 record, squared the best-of-five series Sunday at Cincinnati with a 5-0 triumph. The remaining games will be played here. Lefty Jon Matlack, a 19-year-old minor leaguer when the Miracle Mets won the World Series in 1969, fired a masterful two-hitter in the Mets' win Sunday. The day before Mets hurler Tom Seaver set a NL playoff record with 13 strikeouts but still lost on a ninth-inning homer by Johnny Bench. "Matlack pitched a better game than Seaver did," acknowledged Pete Rose, the sparkplug of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine.

Today the Reds send Ross Grimsley, 13-10, against another Mets lefty, Jerry Koosman, 14-15. "I sat here yesterday and said I don't expect Matlack to pitch as well as Seaver," Rose declared from his locker stool.

"Now doggone," he said with a grimace. "I sure don't expect Koosman to throw as good as Matlack." With the exception of Sunday's ninth inning when the Mets scored four runs on a walk and five singles, Reds' pitching has also been outstanding. The Mets took a 1-0 lead Sunday when Rusty Staub belted a solo homer to right in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Don Gullett. It was the only run off Gullett, who worked five innings and allowed two hits before bowing to a pinch hitter in the fifth. The Mets' four-run burst in the last inning came off relievers Tom Hall and Pedro Borbon. Jerry Grote's bases-loaded single drove in two of the runs. Meanwhile, Matlack allowed only two Reds to reach second base the entire game, and he notched nine strikeouts and just three walks.

CRUSADERS—Circleville's Dave Truex 32 and Teays Valley's Jim Pritchard 54 and Jim Pabst 79 are freshmen gridgers on the Capital University Jayvee team. Pabst is a tackle, Pritchard a center and Truex a defensive cornerback. Truex has worked his way into a backup role with the varsity and is expected to see considerable Ohio Conference action this fall.

Steelers Defeat Chargers

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"That was the longest second half I've ever been in," Pittsburgh Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll said.

Harland Sware of the San Diego Chargers could've said the same thing...about Sunday's first half. In those first 30 minutes of their National Football League game, the Steelers rolled up 38 points while holding San Diego scoreless.

So Noll decided to give his first-stringers a rest and go with substitutes. It didn't really come close to costing the game, but it threw a scare into the Steelers. They kept their record untainted with their 38-21 victory. Two other teams remained perfect as well, the Los Angeles Rams riding John Hadl's pinpoint passing to a 31-26 triumph over the Houston Oilers and the Minnesota Vikings jumping on a pair of early Detroit mistakes and turning them into touchdowns en route to a 23-9 victory over the Lions. The only other unbeaten team, the Dallas Cowboys, face the Redskins in Washington tonight.

In other NFL action Sunday, New Orleans surprised Chicago 21-16, Miami mangled the New York Jets 31-3, Green Bay edged the New York Giants 16-14, Cleveland dumped Cincinnati 17-10, New England beat Baltimore 24-16, Buffalo squeezed past Philadelphia 27-26, San Francisco 49ers topped Atlanta 13-9, Oakland defeated St. Louis 17-10 and Kansas City trimmed Denver 16-14. In the Pittsburgh-San Diego game, Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty each threw touchdown passes to Ron Shanklin. Bradshaw first hit Shanklin on a 12-yard TD pass and later scored himself from one yard out. After a Roy Gerela field goal, safety Mike Wagner set up another touchdown, returning an interception 23 yards to the Chargers' nine. Steve Davis scored from the one four plays later. Hanratty then replaced Bradshaw and hit Shanklin with a 37-yard pass. The Chargers scored three touchdowns on Dan Fouts' 13-yard pass to Jerry LeVias and short runs by Clint Jones and Robert Holmes in the fourth period.

Nicklaus Lead Widens

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)—The competitive fire still smoldered in Jack Nicklaus, moments after his nine-under-par 62 matched his best round in 12 pro golf four years. "Obviously, I'd love to attack the course again," said the game's greatest shotmaker Sunday after mounting the largest 54-hole lead of the 1973 season. Nicklaus knew better. His 14-under-par 199, fashioned on the course he half owns, sent him nine shots up on New Zealander John Lister, who had 67 and 208.

"My main objective tomorrow," the Golden Bear said, "is to win the tournament. If 75 is all it takes without chances, that's what I want to shoot." Another stroke back at 209 on the Nicklaus Golf Center layout was Lee Trevino. The merry Mexican had a third-round 69. Then came Rod Curl and Tom Weiskopf at 210, J. C. Snead at 211 and Andy North and Tom Watson at 212. All came in with 70s on the wet, 6,915-yard layout in the Southwestern Ohio hills. Nicklaus' round of 10 birdies and one bogey bettered the seven-shot lead Hale Irwin had after 54 holes in the Heritage five weeks ago.

Belgian Victorious In Moto-Cross Action

LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Yakima, Washington's Jim Pomerooy survived a malfunctioning front brake to take sixth place as the highest finishing native American in the American Motorcycle Association Trans-AMA moto-cross Sunday. The event, held at Mid-Ohio race course, was won by world champion Roger DeCoster of Belgium.

New England Whalers Lose To Nordiques

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The World Hockey Association champion New England Whalers opened defense of their title with a thud Sunday night, dropping a 4-2 decision to the Quebec Nordiques. Serge Bernier had the hot stick for the Nordiques, who didn't even make the WHA playoffs last season. Bernier, late of the National Hockey League Los Angeles Kings, scored two goals and assisted on a third.

Evel Knievel Injured During Wisconsin Show

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Motorcycle stunt rider Evel Knievel was hospitalized here Sunday after he fell during a high-speed jump and slid on his back along a ramp. Hospital officials said Knievel suffered back injuries, a fractured bone in his left hand and possible kidney damage. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Major Reforms Seen In Olympic Games

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP)—Big reforms could be made in the Olympics before the 1976 Games in Montreal. The International Olympic Committee, dispersing today after meeting at this Black Sea resort, is ready to reform basic principles sacred since Baron de Coubertin of France founded the modern Olympics 80 years ago. Former Duke guard Mike McGee, of Elizabeth City, N.C., is in his third year as the Blue Devil football coach.

Ohio College Grid Action Results Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan football Coach Jack Fouts, whose team was mauled by Wittenberg 41-7 Saturday, believes this season's Tiger squad is as good as the school's famed powerhouse teams of the 1960s.

"This is as good a team as any they've had here," Fouts said as he met with newsmen after the beating. "They're the quickest team we've played against. They got to things in a hurry. They closed things up that we thought were open."

In other major Ohio college football action Saturday, top-ranked Ohio State whipped Washington State 27-3, Dayton edged Southern Illinois 23-16, and Xavier trimmed Southwestern Louisiana, while Cincinnati fell to Temple 16-15 and Akron was a 21-7 victim of Tampa.

Bowling Green and Kent State held the top spots in the Mid-American Conference standings with 2-0 marks after triumphs Saturday. Bowling Green staged a 49-35 come-from-behind victory over archrival Toledo and Kent rolled over Western Michigan 39-15.

Playing outside the league, Miami downed Marshall 31-6 and Ohio University outlasted Northwestern 14-12 to become the second MAC team in two weeks to beat a Big Ten opponent. Miami turned the trick on Purdue a week earlier.

Hoosier-Buckeye Conference action saw defending titlist Bluffton defeating Findlay 18-14, Defiance dropping Manchester 34-14 and Taylor, Ind., bouncing Wilmington 24-17.

In the Presidents' Athletic Conference, Hiram blanked Washington & Jefferson 20-0 and Allegheny, Pa., throttled Case Western Reserve 42-7. Heidelberg extended its winning streak to 17 games Saturday with a 16-0 shutout of Marietta. Meanwhile, Ashland, whose 14-game streak was snapped a week earlier, fell again, this time to Northwood, Mich., 24-13.

Other results: Capital 29, Denison 9; Mount Union 17, Kenyon 16; Otterbein 24, Ohio Northern 0; Delaware 56, Baldwin-Wallace 18; Wooster 14, John Carroll 7; Wofford, S. C. 40, Muskingum 19; Central State 33, Lane, Tenn. 12; Oberlin 29, Hamilton, N. Y. 14; Northern Michigan 30, Youngstown State 12.

Peterson, Yarborough Win Big Auto Races

Ronnie Peterson will take $53,900 in American dollars back to Sweden and Cale Yarborough will keep $41,300 of them at home after a heavy weekend of auto racing.

Peterson, a 29-year-old charger from Orebro, Sweden, beat Britisher James Hunt, a rookie, by less than half a second to win the $275,000 U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen, N.Y., Sunday. Farther south, at Charlotte, N.C., Yarborough nipped old pro Richard Petty by about two seconds to win the National 500 for Grand National stock cars.

During the first seven months of 1973 a total of nine members of the Ladies PGA have won more than $30,000 in golf tournaments.

Cleveland Browns Top Bengals In 17-10 Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich stopped complaining about his offense Sunday. "It was the best performance this year by the offensive line," Skorich said after the Browns galloped past the Cincinnati Bengals 17-10 in a National Football League game.

"Ken Brown did some great running," Skorich continued. "He broke some tackles and used his blocking well. Leroy Kelly's running was also very good."

Kelly and Brown combined for 166 yards on 47 carries and Kelly scored twice on runs of three and seven yards.

"I think we're ready to show we have an offensive team now and put it all together against Miami," said Kelly, who injured his thigh in the final period.

"I don't think it (the injury) will keep me out," Kelly added.

Brown said that he and Kelly were "running a lot of finesse plays."

"He was blocking for me and I was blocking for him," Brown said. "The entire offensive line was really firing off. We had big holes on either side and up the middle."

Skorich said the game plan was to stay on the ground "because of the pass protection trouble we've had."

Quarterback Mike Phipps did his share of running also and gained 52 yards in four carries.

"It worries me to see Phipps run," Skorich said. "It's nice to see him get up and go back to the huddle."

The Bengals fumbled twice in the American Conference Central Division contest and both times cornerback Ben Davis recovered for the Browns and Cleveland went on to score.

Bengals coach Paul Brown admitted that the better team won.

"They (Cleveland) deserved to win," Brown said. "We didn't play well."

Bengals center Bob Johnson said "if you want to know what made the difference is this game it was their (Cleveland's) offense."

"They made zero mistakes when they had the ball," Johnson added. "We had to try and stop them. They never stopped themselves."

The Bengals led through the first quarter on a Horst Muhlmann field goal but the Browns started the second half with a 7-3 edge and never lost it.

Ohio Hunting Lands Listed By Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There are more than 10.5 million acres of land available for hunting in Ohio and you haven't the foggiest idea where to find it. Right?

Half a million of those acres are public hunting lands and all of it is about as easy to find as the buck you didn't even see last year.

Would you believe there's a whole state agency ready and waiting to tell you where to go hunting. The Ohio Department of Natural Resources can tell hunters who don't know their way around the Buckeye state where to find game and how to find it.

"Now doggone," he said with a grimace. "I sure don't expect Koosman to throw as good as Matlack."

With the exception of Sunday's ninth inning when the Mets scored four runs on a walk and five singles, Reds' pitching has also been outstanding.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead Sunday when Rusty Staub belted a solo homer to right in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Don Gullett.

It was the only run off Gullett, who worked five innings and allowed two hits before bowing to a pinch hitter in the fifth.

The Mets' four-run burst in the last inning came off relievers Tom Hall and Pedro Borbon. Jerry Grote's bases-loaded single drove in two of the runs.

Meanwhile, Matlack allowed only two Reds to reach second base the entire game, and he notched nine strikeouts and just three walks.

Ohio College Grid Action Results Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Wesleyan football Coach Jack Fouts, whose team was mauled by Wittenberg 41-7 Saturday, believes this season's Tiger squad is as good as the school's famed powerhouse teams of the 1960s.

"This is as good a team as any they've had here," Fouts said as he met with newsmen after the beating.

"They're the quickest team we've played against. They got to things in a hurry. They closed things up that we thought were open."

In other major Ohio college football action Saturday, top-ranked Ohio State whipped Washington State 27-3, Dayton edged Southern Illinois 23-16, and Xavier trimmed Southwestern Louisiana, while Cincinnati fell to Temple 16-15 and Akron was a 21-7 victim of Tampa.

Bowling Green and Kent State held the top spots in the Mid-American Conference standings with 2-0 marks after triumphs Saturday. Bowling Green staged a 49-35 come-from-behind victory over archrival Toledo and Kent rolled over Western Michigan 39-15.

Playing outside the league, Miami downed Marshall 31-6 and Ohio University outlasted Northwestern 14-12 to become the second MAC team in two weeks to beat a Big Ten opponent. Miami turned the trick on Purdue a week earlier.

Hoosier-Buckeye Conference action saw defending titlist Bluffton defeating Findlay 18-14, Defiance dropping Manchester 34-14 and Taylor, Ind., bouncing Wilmington 24-17.

In the Presidents' Athletic Conference, Hiram blanked Washington & Jefferson 20-0 and Allegheny, Pa., throttled Case Western Reserve 42-7.

Heidelberg extended its winning streak to 17 games Saturday with a 16-0 shutout of Marietta. Meanwhile, Ashland, whose 14-game streak was snapped a week earlier, fell again, this time to Northwood, Mich., 24-13.

Other results: Capital 29, Denison 9; Mount Union 17, Kenyon 16; Otterbein 24, Ohio Northern 0; Delaware 56, Baldwin-Wallace 18; Wooster 14, John Carroll 7; Wofford, S. C. 40, Muskingum 19; Central State 33, Lane, Tenn. 12; Oberlin 29, Hamilton, N. Y. 14; Northern Michigan 30, Youngstown State 12.

Peterson, Yarborough Win Big Auto Races

Ronnie Peterson will take $53,900 in American dollars back to Sweden and Cale Yarborough will keep $41,300 of them at home after a heavy weekend of auto racing.

Peterson, a 29-year-old charger from Orebro, Sweden, beat Britisher James Hunt, a rookie, by less than half a second to win the $275,000 U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen, N.Y., Sunday.

Farther south, at Charlotte, N.C., Yarborough nipped old pro Richard Petty by about two seconds to win the National 500 for Grand National stock cars.

During the first seven months of 1973 a total of nine members of the Ladies PGA have won more than $30,000 in golf tournaments.

Cleveland Browns Top Bengals In 17-10 Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich stopped complaining about his offense Sunday. "It was the best performance this year by the offensive line," Skorich said after the Browns galloped past the Cincinnati Bengals 17-10 in a National Football League game.

"Ken Brown did some great running," Skorich continued. "He broke some tackles and used his blocking well. Leroy Kelly's running was also very good."

Kelly and Brown combined for 166 yards on 47 carries and Kelly scored twice on runs of three and seven yards.

"I think we're ready to show we have an offensive team now and put it all together against Miami," said Kelly, who injured his thigh in the final period.

"I don't think it (the injury) will keep me out," Kelly added.

Brown said that he and Kelly were "running a lot of finesse plays."

"He was blocking for me and I was blocking for him," Brown said. "The entire offensive line was really firing off. We had big holes on either side and up the middle."

Skorich said the game plan was to stay on the ground "because of the pass protection trouble we've had." Quarterback Mike Phipps did his share of running also and gained 52 yards in four carries.

"It worries me to see Phipps run," Skorich said. "It's nice to see him get up and go back to the huddle."

The Bengals fumbled twice in the American Conference Central Division contest and both times cornerback Ben Davis recovered for the Browns and Cleveland went on to score.

Bengals coach Paul Brown admitted that the better team won.

"They (Cleveland) deserved to win," Brown said. "We didn't play well."

Bengals center Bob Johnson said "if you want to know what made the difference is this game it was their (Cleveland's) offense."

"They made zero mistakes when they had the ball," Johnson added. "We had to try and stop them. They never stopped themselves."

The Bengals led through the first quarter on a Horst Muhlmann field goal but the Browns started the second half with a 7-3 edge and never lost it.

Ohio Hunting Lands Listed By Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— There are more than 10.5 million acres of land available for hunting in Ohio and you haven't the foggiest idea where to find it. Right?

Half a million of those acres are public hunting lands and all of it is about as easy to find as the buck you didn't even see last year.

Would you believe there's a whole state agency ready and waiting to tell you where to go hunting. The Ohio Department of Natural Resources can tell hunters who don't know their way around the Buckeye state where to find game and how to find it.

Steelers Defeat Chargers

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"That was the longest second half I've ever been in," Pittsburgh Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll said.

Harland Sware of the San Diego Chargers could've said the same thing...about Sunday's first half.

In those first 30 minutes of their National Football League game, the Steelers rolled up 38 points while holding San Diego scoreless.

So Noll decided to give his first-stringers a rest and go with substitutes. It didn't really come close to costing the game, but it threw a scare into the Steelers.

They kept their record untainted with their 38-21 victory. Two other teams remained perfect as well, the Los Angeles Rams riding John Hadl's pinpoint passing to a 31-26 triumph over the Houston Oilers and the Minnesota Vikings jumping on a pair of early Detroit mistakes and turning them into touchdowns en route to a 23-9 victory over the Lions. The only other unbeaten team, the Dallas Cowboys, face the Redskins in Washington tonight.

In other NFL action Sunday, New Orleans surprised Chicago 21-16, Miami mangled the New York Jets 31-3, Green Bay edged the New York Giants 16-14, Cleveland dumped Cincinnati 17-10, New England beat Baltimore 24-16, Buffalo squeezed past Philadelphia 27-26, San Francisco 49ers topped Atlanta 13-9, Oakland defeated St. Louis 17-10 and Kansas City trimmed Denver 16-14.

In the Pittsburgh-San Diego game, Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty each threw touchdown passes to Ron Shanklin. Bradshaw first hit Shanklin on a 12-yard TD pass and later scored himself from one yard out. After a Roy Gerela field goal, safety Mike Wagner set up another touchdown, returning an interception 23 yards to the Chargers' nine. Steve Davis scored from the one four plays later. Hanratty then replaced Bradshaw and hit Shanklin with a 37-yard pass.

The Chargers scored three touchdowns on Dan Fouts' 13-yard pass to Jerry LeVias and short runs by Clint Jones and Robert Holmes in the fourth period.

Nicklaus Lead Widens

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— The competitive fire still smoldered in Jack Nicklaus, moments after his nine-under-par 62 matched his best round in 12 pro golf tour years.

"Obviously, I'd love to attack the course again," said the game's greatest shotmaker Sunday after mounting the largest 54-hole lead of the 1973 season.

Nicklaus knew better. His 14-under-par 199, fashioned on the course he half owns, sent him nine shots up on New Zealander John Lister, who had 67 and 208.

"My main objective tomorrow," the Golden Bear said, "is to win the tournament. If 75 is all it takes without chances, that's what I want to shoot."

Another stroke back at 209 on the Nicklaus Golf Center layout was Lee Trevino. The merry Mexican had a third-round 69.

Then came Rod Curl and Tom Weiskopf at 210, J. C. Snead at 211 and Andy North and Tom Watson at 212. All came in with 70s on the wet, 6,915-yard layout in the Southwestern Ohio hills.

Nicklaus' round of 10 birdies and one bogey bettered the seven-shot lead Hale Irwin had after 54 holes in the Heritage five weeks ago.

Belgian Victorious In Moto-Cross Action

LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Yakima, Washington's Jim Pomeroy survived a malfunctioning front brake to take sixth place as the highest finishing native American in the American Motorcycle Association Trans-AMA moto-cross Sunday.

The event, held at Mid-Ohio race course, was won by world champion Roger DeCoster of Belgium.

scored all but one of their runs on round-trippers.

Campaneris, who rammed into center fielder Angel Mangual for a miscue which could have proved costly, also had two singles, two stolen bases, batted in two runs and scored twice.

New England Whalers Lose To Nordiques

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The World Hockey Association champion New England Whalers opened defense of their title with a thud Sunday night, dropping a 4-2 decision to the Quebec Nordiques.

Serge Bernier had the hot stick for the Nordiques, who didn't even make the WHA playoffs last season. Bernier, late of the National Hockey League Los Angeles Kings, scored two goals and assisted on a third.

Evel Knievel Injured During Wisconsin Show

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — Motorcycle stunt rider Evel Knievel was hospitalized here Sunday after he fell during a high-speed jump and slid on his back along a ramp.

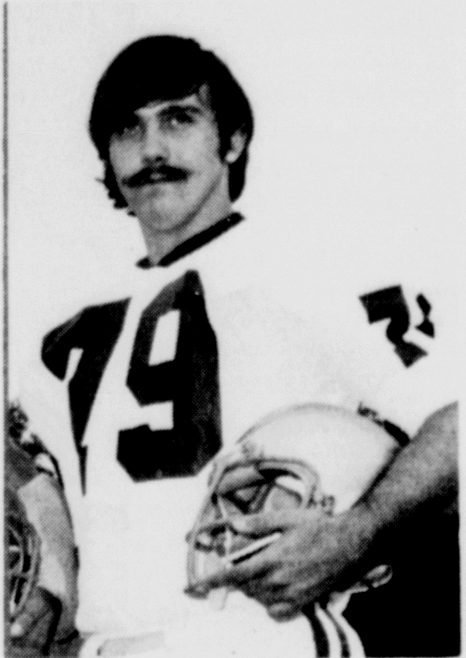

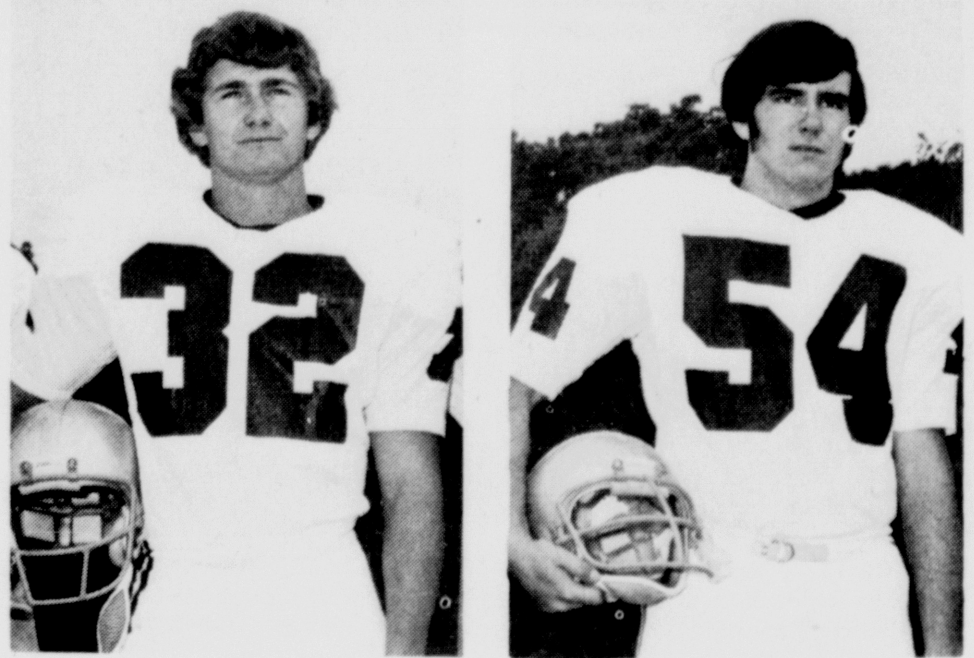

Hospital officials said Knievel suffered back injuries, a fractured bone in his left hand and possible kidney damage. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Major Reforms Seen In Olympic Games

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — Big reforms could be made in the Olympics before the 1976 Games in Montreal.

The International Olympic Committee, dispersing today after meeting at this Black Sea resort, is ready to reform basic principles sacred since Baron de Coubertin of France founded the modern Olympics 80 years ago.

Former Duke guard Mike McGee, of Elizabeth City, N.C., is in his third year as the Blue Devil football coach.

CRUSADERS—Circleville's Dave Truex 32 and Teays Valley's Jim Pritchard 54 and Jim Pabst 79 are freshmen gridders on the Capital University Jayvee team. Pabst is a tackle, Pritchard a center and Truex a defensive cornerback. Truex has worked his way into a backup role with the varsity and is expected to see considerable Ohio Conference action this fall.

A's Even Series With 6-3 Win Over Baltimore

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, having proved the Baltimore Orioles aren't invincible in American League playoff competition, return home today with confidence they can win the current best-of-five series.

"I think we have the advantage now," Oakland manager Dick Williams said after a home run barrage gave the A's a 6-3 victory Sunday and evened the series at one game apiece. "We're in pretty good shape."

"We're going back to our own park, and we have two 20-game winners to throw at them."

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, having suffered his first playoff defeat after 10 consecutive victories, found it hard to fathom that being 1-1 was a disadvantage.

"Unless the second game means more than the first one," he said, "we're still even. We have to win two out of three now, and so do they."

Weaver, who didn't even have to use one of his four 20-game winners while beating the A's in the 1971 playoffs, can't match Oakland in that regard for the next two games, at least.

Left-hander Ken Holtzman was to start for Oakland in today's game, 3:30 p.m. EDT, against Baltimore lefty Mike Cuellar, an 18-game winner during the regular season.

Lefty Vida Blue, who was knocked from the mound in the first inning of Saturday's opener, has been named by Williams to start game No. 4.

Weaver said he would stick with his original plans to pitch young Doyle Alexander in the fourth game. While Alexander won just 12 during the regular season, one of those was a one-run, complete game victory over the A's.

The Orioles out-homered the A's 18-16 during regular season series, won by Oakland 7-5, but five of those hit by the A's came off Dave McNally, who was rapped for four more on Sunday.

Third baseman Sal Bando slammed two drives into the left field bleachers, after being robbed on his previous at bat when Al Bumbry reached high above the fence to pull down an apparent homer.

Solo homers also were hit by Bert Campaneris and Joe Rudi, as the A's

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day and evening to get all your constructive and cultural activities in good shape, so add color to your surroundings. Reduce loftiest desires to a workable formula for success. Evening favors social matters, popularity and general prosperity, so get busy and do the things that bring you peace, happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into confidential activities that put your life on a more solid basis, then join with mate at recreations. Clear deck for bigger future interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get important work out of the way, then be with good friends and have fun. Plan new future social activities which can help business. Dress well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle civic duties cleverly, wisely, and gain the support of higher-ups. Pay bills and improve credit rating. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get into new interests that will make you happy, industrious and successful. Show you can hold your own under pressure. Follow intuitions which are accurate today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Listening to your intuition can be most helpful now, even in keeping you out of danger. Evening is happy with mate. Check on all your facts. Avoid crowds.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find out what is expected of you by associates, then come out with your own ideas and reach fine understanding. Smile more for better results. Grow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to get your home or place of business beautified. Plan your wardrobe. Make sure it is clean and well pressed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can be happy at your work and recreational activities. Show more affection and make mate feel more at ease and happier, with better understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give attention to home conditions and handle family affairs with real wisdom. Some new interest needs to have bugs taken out of it. Be on time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use a gentle approach communicating with others today for right results. Reading is helpful. Become a more knowledgeable person. Have fun tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get into all the facts and figures of some financial plan to avoid mistakes. Be practical, not just a visionary. Avoid one who makes you nervous.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Concentrate on gaining your finest aims and put wheels in motion especially in p.m. Reach a better understanding with mate. Avoid unfriendly person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those youngsters who has to understand early the value of religion and the importance of ethics, otherwise the success possible in this chart will be greatly lessened. Your child will have fine intuitive faculties and can use them to help kin as well as for personal success. The fields of psychology would be excellent here, as well as the ministry, some government connection.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason, a CBS-TV star for the last 15 years, is coming out of a sustained semiseclusion Thursday to star in his first comedy-variety show for the network since February 1970.

Why the 3½-year layoff? "I just didn't feel like going to work," the Great One explained. He spoke from Miami Beach on a phone connection that sounded as if it were relayed via Katmandu.

Thursday's show may be his final comedy effort for CBS. Gleason, who moved to Florida nine years ago, recently moved his allegiance to NBC-TV, which said he had signed a "long-term" contract with it.

The 57-year-old comedian was a bit more specific about the pact. He said it runs for two years, with options for more.

He also said his CBS contract doesn't expire until September next year. It commits him to doing one more CBS show, probably a dramatic effort, if his sponsor General Electric asks for it.

But whatever happens, Gleason said, he'll start work on his first NBC show in January. What prompted him to sign with NBC, besides money?

"Well, I think that was it," he laughed. "More money. I thought it best to go with NBC. They got a better setup."

Although finances remain secret, the setup allows Gleason to stay in Florida and do all his shows there. His Florida life is indeed sweet — in fact, he had just finished a morning's golfing before the interview.

Surprisingly, the man whose wild, funny TV characters became classics for two generations of viewers says his NBC deal is only for dramatic shows and not comedy-variety specials. "They're too tough to do," he says of the latter, even though his Thursday night CBS special will be a comedy-variety effort that borrows from the best of his past successes.

Reginald Van Gleason will do his thing, Sammy Spear will conduct the orchestra and the June Taylor Dancers will be out there kicking again. And Art Carney will rejoin Gleason for an updated "Honeymooners" skit.

What does Gleason have in mind for his future NBC projects? "I'll do two or three movie-length stories the first year," he said. "And from one of those we might get a spinoff where I'll do eight to 12 shows a year."

He referred to doing a one-a-month series, although he emphasized that "I don't want to be a lawyer, a doctor or a detective. Everybody's a cop, a doctor or a lawyer these days."

If the first year produces no series, he said, "I'll do three more (shows) the following year and look from those for a spinoff."

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason, a CBS-TV star for the last 15 years, is coming out of a suntuined semiseclusion Thursday to star in his first comedy-variety show for the network since February 1970.

Why the 3½-year layoff? "I just didn't feel like going to work," the Great One explained. He spoke from Miami Beach on a phone connection that sounded as if it were relayed via Katmandu.

Thursday's show may be his final comedy effort for CBS. Gleason, who moved to Florida nine years ago, recently moved his allegiance to NBC-TV, which said he had signed a "long-term" contract with it.

The 57-year-old comedian was a bit more specific about the pact. He said it runs for two years, with options for more.

He also said his CBS contract doesn't expire until September next year. It commits him to doing one more CBS show, probably a dramatic effort, if his sponsor General Electric asks for it.

But whatever happens, Gleason said, he'll start work on his first NBC show in January. What prompted him to sign with NBC, besides money?

"Well, I think that was it," he laughed. "More money. I thought it best to go with NBC. They got a better setup."

Although finances remain secret, the setup allows Gleason to stay in Florida and do all his shows there. His Florida life is indeed sweet — in fact, he had just finished a morning's golfing before the interview.

Surprisingly, the man whose wild, funny TV characters became classics for two generations of viewers says his NBC deal is only for dramatic shows and not comedy-variety specials. "They're too tough to do," he says of the latter, even though his Thursday night CBS special will be a comedy-variety effort that borrows from the best of his past successes.

Reginald Van Gleason will do his thing, Sammy Spear will conduct the orchestra and the June Taylor Dancers will be out there kicking again. And Art Carney will rejoin Gleason for an updated "Honeymooners" skit.

What does Gleason have in mind for his future NBC projects? "I'll do two or three movie-length stories the first year," he said. "And from one of those we might get a spinoff where I'll do eight to 12 shows a year."

He referred to doing a once-a-month series, although he emphasized that "I don't want to be a lawyer, a doctor or a detective. Everybody's a cop, a doctor or a lawyer these days."

If the first year produces no series, he said, "I'll do three more (shows) the following year and look from those for a spinoff."

Girl Scouts Benefit From Annual Fund Drive

The Girl Scouts in Pickaway County benefit from the Community Fund Drive in the amount of $11,900 this year. The drive for money for the ten participating agencies is now under way.

Service and citizenship are two of the Foundation Elements of Girl Scouting. Last spring, troops of the Logan Trails Service Unit cooperated with the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce in the annual paint-up-fix-up week with the help of litter bags from Owens-Illinois. Girls and leaders picked up debris of all kinds throughout the city - especially around meeting places, parks, and downtown streets and alleys. These girls are well aware of what happens when an individual throws something on the ground. Multiplied many times by many people, it becomes unsightly and possibly a health hazard.

Girl Scouts of Logan Trails and Tri-Plains Service Units also took part in other community activities by marching in Pumpkin Show, Ashville Fourth of July, and Memorial Day Parades. Other service projects included flag ceremonies at PTA meetings, raising the flag at football games, decorating nut cups for the Veteran's Hospital through the Red Cross, caroling at Rest Homes and Berger Hospital, and made and gave toys to PICCA Day Care.

Some Cadette Girl Scouts helped with Head Start and some continued to work two hours a day through the school year with Special Education classes in the Teays Valley school system. This troop also planned and carried out a Bingo Party for a cottage at Orient.

International Friendship is another Foundation Element. Troops of Tri-Plains Service Unit held an International dinner with food representing many countries where Girl Scouts and Girl Guides are found. Five Senior Girl Scouts from Pickaway County joined with 20 other Girl Scouts from Central Ohio to be Ambassadors of Good Will to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic. It was a most successful trip with the girls seeing many beautiful and fascinating places and making many new friends.

Health and Safety are considered in every activity Girl Scouts participate in such as learning to dress for the weather, elementary first aid for Brownies and Red Cross First Aid courses for older girls and adults, proper use of tools, safe meeting places, the "buddy system", and many others.

Troop management means learning representative government such as is used in a democracy - Brownies taking turns talking in a ring to the patrol system used by Juniors, Cadettes, and Seniors.

The wording of the Girl Scout Promise and Laws was changed this past year to make them more meaningful to today's girls. The ideas are the same but the words are more familiar and easily understood. Uniforms have also been updated, and hand books will probably be reprinted in the near future. Girl Scouts of the U.S. is alive and changing with suggestions from its members but the purpose is constant—"to inspire girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, and service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens."

The 959 Girl Scouts of Pickaway County are proud to be a member of the Pickaway County Community Fund and thank all those who contribute to it.

Appalachian Coal Reserves Listed

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A statistical report by a nonprofit Washington-based research group says West Virginia has the largest coal reserves of eight Appalachian states, including 46.3 billion tons of low-sulfur coal.

The eight states have a combined total reserve of 257.4 billion tons, according to the Environmental Policy Center. The agency divides the reserves into 252.3 billion tons accessible by deep mines, and 5.7 billion tons of strip-minable coal.

Of the coal which can be mined by surface techniques, only 1.8 billion tons are low-sulfur, the report says. The deep mine reserves include 79.8 billion tons of low-sulfur coal.

The Center defines low-sulfur coal as having one per cent or less sulfur content.

The compilation of statistical data says the nation as a whole has coal reserves of 1.5 trillion tons, including 44.9 billion tons accessible by strip mines.

Low-sulfur coal reserves total 977.5 billion tons in deep mine reserves and 32.2 billion in strip mine reserves, according to the report.

The Environmental Policy Center report lists these coal statistics for other Appalachian states:

—Pennsylvania: Second largest Appalachian reserves at 57.9 billion tons, including 1.1 billion tons of low-sulfur deep mine coal and 752 million tons of high-sulfur strip-minable coal.

—Ohio: Reserves of 41 billion tons, with 39.9 billion tons of deep mine reserves, of which 611 million tons are low sulfur, and more than one billion tons of strip-minable reserves, none of which is considered low sulfur.

—Eastern Kentucky: Reserves of 29.4 billion tons, with 28.6 billion tons of deep mine reserves, of which 21.5 billion tons are low sulfur, and 781 million tons of strip-minable coal, of which 532 million tons are low sulfur.

—Alabama: Reserves of 13.5 billion tons, including 13.4 billion tons in deep mine reserves, of which just over two billion tons are low sulfur, and 134 million tons of strip-minable coal, of which 33 million tons are low sulfur.

—Virginia: Reserves of 9.8 billion tons, including 9.5 billion tons in deep mine reserves, of which 7.9 billion tons are low sulfur, and 258 million tons in strip mine reserves, of which 154 million tons are low sulfur.

—Tennessee: Reserves of 1.8 billion tons, including 1.7 billion tons obtainable by deep mining, of which 159 million tons are low sulfur, and 74 million tons of strip mine reserves, of which five million tons are low sulfur.

—Maryland: Reserves of 1.1 billion tons, all but 21 million tons of which is in deep mine reserves. None of the state's reserves are considered low sulfur.

Foreign Students May Fill Extra Space In U.S. Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — American colleges and universities, which undertook a construction binge in the 1960s to accommodate an expected surge of students, are finding they have thousands of empty classroom seats.

Many would like to fill the vacancies with foreign students.

Under a pilot program Georgetown University hopes to begin next year, approximately 500 German students will be placed in 25 American schools in five areas.

Thousands more could eventually be on their way, according to Georgetown's executive vice president for educational affairs, the Rev. Edmund G. Ryan, S.J.

Father Ryan says thousands of German students are being turned away from overcrowded German universities.

"The United States in the 1960s went off on a lost weekend of building," Father Ryan said. "In the 1970s we're suffering from a massive hangover."

Young Germans and others could be the antidote for the financial suffering of under-enrolled American schools, he says.

"The Germans are talking about 30,000 to 50,000 students," he said. While this would be "entirely too large" for the near future, he thinks it is reasonable as a long-range figure.

The students in the pilot program will be clustered in five areas—Washington, D.C., Michigan, Missouri, Texas and Washington state.

Father Ryan said the percentage of college-age students attending schools past high school has leveled off at about 50 per cent.

The National Center for Education Statistics has found that recent predictions for enrollment this year and in the next few years were inflated.

Peanut Plan Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has approved a plan for slashing government peanut subsidies, a program which has cost taxpayers $650 million since 1955.

Administration sources, asking not to be identified, say Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz will announce the White House-endorsed proposal within a few weeks. The plan will require congressional action.

The administration says government price support guarantees to farmers are too high. Each year about one third of the peanut crop is taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation in USDA, which then sells it to exporters and other users at a loss because world markets normally are about one-half of the government guarantee.

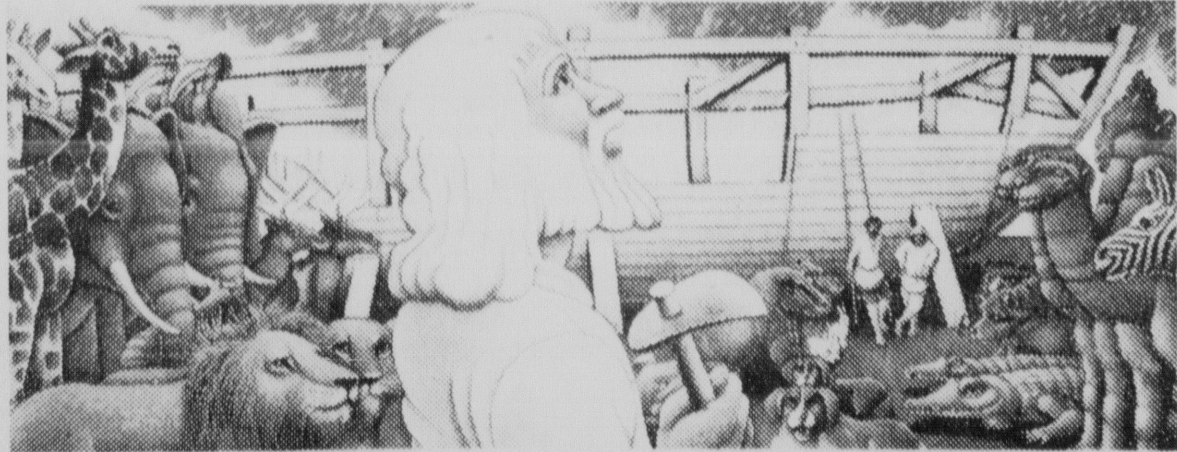

Even with higher world prices this year, the CCC will lose about $60 million, officials said.

As designed now, the new plan calls for a "target price" method of guaranteeing peanut farmers a set price for their share of production consumed in the United States.

Tunnel Razed; Was Man's Home

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It was just a dark tunnel, littered with junk and noisy with the scurry of rats. But John Vasco called it home for 17 years.

Then a wrecking crew moved in Wednesday and destroyed it.

The tunnel had been formed by one wall of a viaduct, its overhang and a wall of the Tennessee Casket Co. building.

"We tore down almost half of the old building before we knew he was in there," said Murlon Love, a private contractor who was demolishing the casket firm's building. "He told us he was going to die there."

Inside the tunnel, about four feet wide and almost 100 feet long, were piles of broken dolls, bottles and old clothes. One wall was covered with rows of crosses, strange figures and random words scribbled in chalk. At the rear was a small shelf where Vasco slept.

He said his wife died back in the early 1950s and "the spirit told him the only place he'd be safe is in that tunnel," Love said.

Residents of the neighborhood said he often walked the streets wearing a tattered straw hat and carrying a black satchel, which he filled with additions to his collection of junk.

Vasco's background is a mystery, and he wouldn't talk much to reporters.

"I was created in the midSouth and had to flee the flood," the old man told a reporter without elaboration.

Capt. C.E. Torian, a fire marshal who is trying to find a place for Vasco to live, said he had ordered Vasco out several times without success. On Wednesday afternoon, Torian found Vasco at a supermarket and brought him back to the tunnel so he could collect his things.

"See if you want any of these things," Torian said, pointing to the piles on the floor.

"All of these things mean something to me," the old man said. As he lifted an old boot, a rat ran out.

Torian took him back outside as Love's bulldozer was poised to rip down the wall.

"I'm not going to move," Vasco said.

"I'm supposed to live there."

Then he said, "I'll stay without the wall. All I have to do is listen to the music." He swept his arm toward the neighborhood filled with the noise of traffic and bars.

As Love put the bulldozer into gear and yanked the tunnel wall into a pile of dust and rubble, Torian led the old man away.

NOW! SEE THE FRESHNESS FOR YOURSELF

Consumers rightly expect the foods they buy to be fresh and good. That's why Kroger partners and protects and rushes the foods we sell to stores at their peak of freshness.

Because we do take such care, Kroger is confident of the freshness of the foods we sell. That's why we can guarantee them on a replacement or money-back basis.

And that is why we open date foods for freshness. Some 1900 foods sold by Kroger now carry an open date... easy-to-read, such as AUG 30... to let you know the last day a product will be sold so it will stay fresh for an average usage period (or longer) after you buy it and carry it home.

For more than a year, Kroger has been open dating foods—everything from milk, eggs and bread to many items other groceries don't open date, such as jelly, snack crackers and peanut butter. Now that same service has been broadened to include pre-packaged fresh fruits and vegetables and fresh meats. They'll all carry the freshness date so you can see for yourself how fresh they are.

At Kroger, we believe that consumers have the right to know more about the foods they buy. We're open-dating more foods than just about anybody else in the country. This is one more Kroger service designed to help you—the consumer.

WE HEAR YOU
... and we're trying to help!

KROGER AND PHASE IV PRICES

Let's face it: it IS going to cost you more to feed your family. Nobody likes high prices. Not you. Not your supermarket. However, for 90 years Kroger policy has not changed. We will continue to search the markets of the world to bring you the best foods available at the lowest possible prices. We will continue to bring the best buys to your attention to help you stretch your food dollars. AND when supplies of foods are once again plentiful, we'll bring you even better buys. THAT's a promise! Meanwhile, here are the facts:

After July 18, when Stage A of Phase IV went into effect, food prices rose. ALL the increase went back to the farmer. NOTHING could be added to the prices charged by food processors or by supermarkets to cover their own rising operating costs (which include everything from higher wages to the increased cost of diesel fuel needed to power trucks.) Nor could any profit be made on the increased food prices. Now in Stage B of Phase IV, effective September 10, despite other increases allowed, retail prices will continue to be controlled two ways — markup or margin controls and profit controls — just as they were during Phase II and III. The retail food industry has been under strict controls since Phase I began on August 15, 1971. During this period, already low supermarket profits have plummeted to a new low: the average supermarket chain today earns a profit of about 6 cents on a $10 grocery order.
